SHAFTER IS AN ABLE GENERAL.

General Henry, an Old Indian Fighter, Wrote a Letter Highly Commending the Conduct of the Campaign-Said Miss Clara Barton and Mrs. Addison Porter Were Unselfish Women-General Shafter Answered Some of the Newspaper Attacks.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- With the close of last week the United States saw the end of the third month of the war with Spain, and the responsible officials, from the president down to the lowest employe who has had to do with shaping the course of events, feel nothing but satisfaction at the progress made. An army of 250,000 men has been mobilized, armed and equipped and much of it has seen service. The battles preceeding the capture of Santiago have been remarkable in many respects, and, in the opinion of military experts, have covered the United States army engaged with imperishable glory. Modern warfare of a type developed in these engagements was absolutely new and untried, not only to the United States army, but to the world. No such charge is recorded in history as that made upon the stone fort and the block.

of the Indian fighter, General Henry, so that some weight must be attached to the opinion of the merits of our officers and troops expressed by him in a personal letter addressed by him to Adjutant General Corbin dated in front of Santiago, July 12, in which he says

"We are almost on top of them, in front of Wheeler being about 800 yards to them, but the country is rough, going down to a falling and ascending, all covered by their fire. The country all the way is the roughest I ever saw. You have to follow roads or trails, and come under heavy fire, their position commanding every approach. The work done by these troops since landing, their heroism and patience, under dis-comforts, heat and rain, calls for the highest praise; and the work accomplished by Shafter, his pertinancity and go aheadtiveness' under adverse circumstances and discomforts, is a revelation to me. I doubt if there is another officer who would have 'gotten there'

"Our loss was most unfortunate, but from character of country could not have been avoided if we had to get there.' Last night the Eighth Ohio were almost drowned out and it pours today; that's the climate; and to get out of it, it would be cheaper to lose more by fighting, and success, than by sickness, which is sure to come by staying. We have about 30 cases of yellow fever and many of malaria, but the men are cheerful. General Duffield and Captain Wilcox have yellow fever; they say a mild form; gotten from sleeping in infected buildings, which are now to be burned. Miss Clara Barton and Mrs. Addison Porter rode to the front yesterday in an army wagon, over rough road and raining; they are unselfish women. Too much credit cannot be given the "heroism, pertinacity, pluck, patience and endurance of men' who have borne the brunt of this work."

In a very dignified manner General Shafter, in a report to the war department made public yesterday, took notice of some of the severely critical newsarticles that have appeared touching the condition of the troops before Santiage while they lay in the trenches. He admitted that there was a shortage of tobacco for a time, but shows conclusively that there was no lack of the necessaries of life and that the troops were adequately supplied with hard bread, bacon, sugar and coffee. Although this bill of fare is not as extensive as that afforded troops in garrison it embodied the main features of the army ration while on field service and removal from a base of supplies. As it has been alleged in some quarters that there was a lack of purpose in the battles incident to the advance upon Santiago it is interesting to note that while General Shafter admitted that for two days he was himseif lying ill owing to the great heat and exposure he asserted that the plans laid down in advence for the movement were carried out with absolute exact-

A General Order Lauding the Army For Their Great Fighting About Santiago.

SANTIAGO, July 22.—(Delayed.)—Following in part is Major General Shafter's order, just published: "HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES TROOPS IN CUBA, SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 19.—General order No. 20., The successful accomplishment of the campaign against Santiago, resulting in its downfall and the surrender of the Spanish forces and the capture of large amounts of military stores, together with the destruction of the entire Spanish fleet in the harbor which, upon the investment of the city, was forced to leave, is one of which this army can well be proud. The work you have accomplished may well appeal to the pride of your countrymen and has been rivaled upon few occasions in the world's history. Landing upon an unknown coast you faced dangers in disembarking and overcome obstacles that, even in looking back, seem insurmountable.

"Seizing, with the assistance of the navy, the towns of Baiquiri and Siboney, you pushed boldly forth, gallantly driving back the enemy's outpost in the engagement of La Quasina and completed the concentration of the enemy near Sevilla, within sight of the Spanish stronghold at Santiago de Cuba. The outlook from Sevilla was one that might well have appalled the stoutest heart. Behind you ran a narrow road, made well nigh impassable by rains, while to the front you looked out upon high foothills covered with a dense tropical growth, which could only be traversed by bridle paths terminating within range of the enemy's guns.

"Nothing deterred, you responded eagerly to the order to close upon the foe, and, attacking at Caney and San Juan, drove him from work to work strongest entrenchments, immediately surrounding the city.

"Despite the fierce glare of a southern sun and rains that fell in torrents you valiantly withstood his attempts to drive you from the position your valor had won. Holding in your vice-like grip the army opposed to you, after 17 days of battle and siege you were rewarded by the surrender of nearly 24,-000 prisoners, freeing completely the eastern part of the island from Spanish

"The death of 230 gallant soldiers and the wounding of 1,284 others shows but too plainly the fierce contest in which you were engaged. The few reported missing are undoubtedly among the dead.

"For those who have fallen in battle with you the commanding general sorrows, and with you will ever cherish their memory.

By command of Major General Shaf-"E. J. McClernand,

HOBSON SAW LONG.

Again Met the Secretary of the Navy. His Plan to Raise Colon Considered Feasible.

WASHINGTON, July 25.-Lieutenant Hobson came over from New York Saturday night and had a long conference yesterday with Assistant Secretary Atlen, Captain Bradford and several other officers of the navy department regarding the raising of the Cristobal Colon. The lieutenant succeeded while in New York in arranging with the Merritt and Chapman Wrecking company for the execution of the plans he had prepared for saving the vessels. The wreckers have promised to get together the pontoons, air bags and compressed air apparatus which will be required to lift and right the vessel and expect to start this material for Santiago from New York on a fast vessel within three days. Lieutenant Hobson is confident that if the work can be undertaken before a cyclone sets in, it will result successfully.

Secretary Long said that the lieutenant's plan for raising the Colon seemed entirely feasible to him (Long).

Lieutenant Hobson returned to New York yesterday afternoon and will go to Santiago to supervise the wrecking

MILES LIKELY NEAR COAST OF PORTO RICO.

The War Department Hurrying Along the Rest of the Troops-General Brooke Soon to Sail.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—It was calculated at the war depertment last evening that General Miles had probably arrived at the point on the coast of Porto Rico selected as the rendezvous for all the vessels of the expedition, by that time. Whether or not he will undertake to make a landing in advance until he took refuge within his last and of the arrival of the whole expedition probably will depend entirely upon conditions as he finds them. Should there be no Spanish force, or at least an unconsiderable one on the coast, the troops will be landed to relieve them from the disastrous effects of being confined closely on shipboard under a tropical

> The general has with him sufficient artillery to hold any position he may choose to occupy, supplemented as this artillery will be by the guns of his naval convoy. Meanwhile the department is making every effort to hurry along the remainder of the expedition. Some troops are now on their way from Tampa and Charleston and should reach Porto Rico by the middle of the week. Naval officials are assisting actively in getting the troops off and were engaged yesterday in sending the necessary orders to that end to the commanders of the naval auxiliary vessels which have been placed at the service of the war department.

In the course of a day or two the troops brought from Chickamauga by General Brooke will sail from Hampton Roads, where they have been arriving and are about ready for the transports. There is a probability that General Miles may be delayed for several days in his landing operations for lack of lighters, but several of these are now on their way and others will be hurried forward as rapidly as possible. However it may be as to his speedy landing on Porto Rico soil, it will be well along towards the end of this week before the active land campaign can be begun in Porto Rico.

FEVER PREVALENT.

Even Some of the Immunes Have At tacks of the Disease-Yields In Many Cases to Quinine Treatment-A United States Transport Left For Newport News With Sick and Wounded-Second Attack of Malaria Much Harder to Eradicate Than the First.

SANTIAGO DE OUBA, July 138, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 25.—The re-port published in the United States that there are 50 cases of yellow fever in the cavalry division proves, on investigation, to be unfounded. Captain Houze requests that the report be definitely denied.

The First, Third, Sixth and Ninth volunteers, the First and Tenth regular cavalry regiments and six companies of the Randolph light artillery are encamped about two miles northwest of El Caney, at the base of the mountains. The camp is apparently perfectly healthy as to location and has a good water supply. The ground is well drained.

Malarial fever is prevalent, but it always yields to quinine treatment in the course of four or five days. The fact that the immunes in the regiment have had this fever as freely as the other men shows that the illness is not yellow jack,

There have been no fatalities from fever thus far, but so long as the men are exposed to the hot sun during the day, the incrasing rains and the heavy night dews malaria will increase and our men grow worse. A second attack is much more difficult to eradicate, especially in the case of men exposed to the presnt conditions.

The cavalry is anxious to proceed to Porto Rico, but will be obliged to remain here until the Spanish prisoners which, it is believed, will have been accomplished before the next month is well advanced. The army is mentally depressed by inactivity and the uncertainty as to its future movement, together with the increasing malarial fever. General Shafter's refusal to permit the entrance of armed Cubans into Santiago is an extremely wise measure, as in these excited days there might be trouble. Unarmed persons, however, are free to enter at all times.

As soon as the Spanish soldiers have embarked Cubans will be allowed to enter the city freely.

The first embarkation is expected next Thursday, in accordance with a contract made between the United States government and the Spanish Trans-Atlantic company.

The United States transport Santiago left this morning for Newport News with sick and wounded.

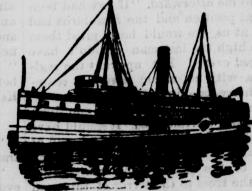

The steamer Jamaica arrival today with passengers from Jamaica and proceeded to Guantanamo with provisions for the United States fleet.

Today the Spaniards turned over their cavalry horses. Only 143 were surrendered. The others had been killed for food for the army.

its Jessie Schley of Milwaukee Has Arc rived In Madrid.

MADRID, July 25 .- (Via Paris)-Miss Jessie Schley, delegate from the peace society of Paris, arrived at Madrid with the intention, it is asserted, of interviewing members of the cabinet with a "humanitarian object."

Miss Jessie Schley, referred to in the foregoing dispatch, is the daughter of Charles Schley of Milwaukee, who is a cousin of Commodore Schley. She is a member of the Daughters of the Revolution. It was announced from Paris last week that she was about to start for Madrid to see the queen regent and Senor Senor Sagasta with a view of bringing about peace, and then to proseed to Washington to visit President McKinley in the same interest.

Last Friday the Milwaukee Sentinel announced that Miss Schley's father, on learning of his daughter's intention, had instructed her to return home immediately, disapproving her course and excusing it as a result of a warm, sympathetic nature and a special authusiasm for philanthropic and peace move-

CHICKAMAUGA MILITARY PARK, Ga., July 25.—Although General James F. These batteries broke camp about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, marching to Rossville, a distance of six miles, where they took trains for Newport News, via the Cincinnati Southern and Chesapeake and Ohio. Each of the four batteries had six guns, 100 horses and mules and from 140 to 175 officers

DIVINE SERVICES HELD.

Some of the Sick Moved From the Leiter

CHICKAMAUGA PARK, July 25 .- The usual divine services by the chaplains and by the evangelists were conducted throughout the park yesterday.

One hundred and sixty-two patients belonging to the volunteer army were removed yesterday from Leiter hospital, at this place, to a special train and taken to McPherson Barracks hospital at Atlanta. Owing to the limited supply of surgeons and medical assistants at this point, it has been deemed hest to send those of the sick who have so far recovered as to be able to be safely moved to other points where they can be cared for and at the same time make room in the Leiter hospital for the sick who are now in the division and regimental field nospitals.

The Knights of Pythias lodges in this city have joined in a movement to establish a hospital in this city for the care of sick membrrs of the order who are in the vosinteer army at Chickamauga park.

CONDITION OF TROOPS.

General Shafter Reported an Improvement-Feeding Many Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, July 25. - General Shafter reported by cable yesterday that the condition of the troops at Santiago was rapidly improving and said he hoped in the course of a day or two to have them all located in comfortable camps, where they may rest and recuperate, and where the sick may recover. He is feeding 11,000 of the Spanish prisoners of war and although he has not yet been able to furnish them tents, yet this deficiency is being made good and meanwhile their present condition is no worse in this respect than was their condition before the surrender.

The general makes no mention of the alleged letter from Garcia to himself, nor does he speak of any friction between them, whence the department has come to doubt the authenticity of published stories on these subjects.

Probably Examined Sampson's Report, WASHINGTON, July 25.—Secretary Long spent about two hours with the president yesterday afternoon, presumably in going over Admiral Sampson's report on the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago. The secretary, however, declined to say anything in regard to the matter, except that the report might be made public today.

MADRID, July 25 .- (Via Paris)-Miss Jessie Schley, delegate from the peace society of Paris, arrived at Madrid with the intention, it is asserted, of interviewing members of the cabines with a "humanitarian object."

Miss Jessie Schley, referred to in the foregoing dispatch, is the daughter of Charles Schley of Milwaukee, who is a cousin of Commodore Schley. She is a member of the Daughters of the Revolution. It was announced from Paris last week that she was about to start for Madrid to see the queen regent and Senor Senor Sagasta with a view of bringing about peace, and then to proseed to Washington to visit President McKinley in the same interest.

Last Friday the Milwaukee Sentinel announced that Miss Schley's father, on learning of his daughter's intention, had instructed her to return home immediately, disapproving her course and excusing it as a result of a warm, sympathetic nature and a special authusi. asm for philanthropic and peace move-

GENERAL WADE IN COMMAND.

CHICKAMAUGA MILITARY PARK, Ga., July 25.—Although General James F. Wade assumed command at Camp Thomas Saturday, as the successor of General Brooke, he has not yet selected a location for his headquarters and is debating whether he will locate on the site General Brooke had his headquarters, near the battlefield station, or pitch his tent on Snodgrass hill. Battery A of Missouri, Battery A of Illinois, Battery B of Pennsylvania and the Twenty-seventh Indiana battery. These batteries broke camp about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, marching to Rossville, a distance of six miles, where they took trains for Newport News, via the Cincinnati Southern and Chesapeake and Ohio. Each of the four batteries had six guns, 100 horses and mules and from 140 to 175 officers

DIVINE SERVICES HELD.

Some of the Sick Moved From the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK, July 25 .- The divine services by the ch and by the evangelists were conducted throughout the park yesterday.

One hundred and sixty-two patients belonging to the volunteer army were removed yesterday from Leiter hospital, at this place, to a special train and taken to McPherson Barracks hospital at Atlanta. Owing to the limited supply of surgeons and medical assistants at this point, it has been deemed best to send those of the sick who have so far recovered as to be able to be safely moved to other points where they can be cared for and at the same time make room in the Leiter hospital for the sick who are now in the division and regimental field nospitals.

The Knights of Pythias lodges in this city have joined in a movement to establish a hospital in this city for the care of sick members of the order who are in the vosinteer army at Chickamauga park.

CONDITION OF TROOPS.

General Shafter Reported an Improvement-Feeding Many Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, July 25. - General Shafter reported by cable yesterday that the condition of the troops at Santiago was rapidly improving and said he hoped in the course of a day or two to have them all located in comfortable camps, where they may rest and recuperate, and where the sick may recover. He is feeding 11,000 of the Spanish prisoners of war and although he has not yet been able to furnish them tents, yet this deficiency is being made good and meanwhile their present condition is no worse in this respect than was their condition before the surrender. The general makes no mention of the alleged letter from Garcia to himself, nor does he speak of any friction between them, whence the department has come to doubt the authenticity of published stories on these subjects.

Probably Examined Sampson's Report.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Secretary Long spent about two hours with the president yesterday afternoon, presumably in going over Admiral Sampson's report on the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago. The secretary, however, declined to say anything in regard to the matter, except that the report might be made public today.

Wood K. Schaffer Drowned.

Leander Conant Died Yesterday After a Long Illness.

Leander Conant died yesterday at his home in Second street after a lingering illness from Brights disease, aged 78 years.

Deceased had been a resident of the city for many years and until a few years ago was engaged in the grocery business. He had many friends and was respected by all who knew him. He was a member of the Grand Army, who will have charge of the funeral and his remains will be interred with military honors. A son is left to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2 o'clock, Dr. J. C. Taggart officiating. Interment in Riverview.

A WARM DAY.

The City Sizzled and Was Uncomforta-

Yesterday was among the hottest of the year, and hundreds of people in town felt the heat severely. In some places where men were employed work was discontinued, while at the postoffice. where there could be no cessation of labor, the force sweltered during the hours they were employed.

The influence of the heat on church congregations was noticeable, but short services were held as a rule.

BATTLE OF SAN JUAN.

STEPHEN CRANE'S VIVID STORY OF OUR INFANTRY'S GALLANTRY.

Victory Gained Not by the Officers, but by the Audscious Bravery of the Men. Misinformed as to Spanish Strength. Guerrillas Who Deserved Hanging.

The New York World's staff correspondent, Stephen Crane, writing under the date of July 4 from the front at Santiago, describes the battle of San Juan as follows:

The action at San Juan on July 1 was, particularly speaking, a soldiers' battle. It was like Inkerman, where the English fought half leaderless all day in a fog. Only the Cuban forest was worse than any fog.

A line of intrenched hills held by men armed with a weapon like the Mauser is not to be taken by a front attack of infantry unless the trenches have first been heavily shaken by artillery fire. Any theorist will say that it is impossible and prove it to be impossible. But it was done, and we owe the success to the splendid gallantry of the American private soldier.

As near as one can learn, headquarters expected little or no fighting on the 1st. Lawton's division was to go by the Caney road, chase the Spaniards out of that interesting village, and then, wheeling half to the left, march down to join the other divisions in some kind of attack on San Juan at daybreak on the 2d. But somebody had been entirely misinformed as to the strength and disposition of the Spanish forces at Caney, and instead of taking Lawton six minutes to capture the town it took him nearly all day, as well it might.

Lawton was well out toward Caney soon after daybreak, and by 7 o'clock we could hear the boom of Capron's guns in support of the infantry. The remaining divisions—Kent's and Wheeler's-were trudging slowly along the muddy trail through the forest.

When the first gun was fired, a grim murmur passed along the lean column. "They're off!" somebody said. Suddenly there was a roar of guns just ahead and a little to the left. This was Grimes' battery going into action on the hill which is called El Paso. Then, all in a moment, the quiet column moving forward was opposed by men carrying terrible burdens. Wounded Cubans were being carried to the rear. Most of them were horribly mangled.

The second brigade of dismounted American cavalry had been in support of the battery, its position being directly to the rear. Some Cubans had joined there. The Spanish shrapnel fired at the passing over, burst amid the supports and the Cubans. The loss of the battery, the cavalry and the Cubans from this fire was 40 men in killed and wounded, the First regular cavalry probably suffering most grievously.

Presently there was a lull in the artillery fire, and down through spaces in the trees we could see the infantry still plodding with its pack steadily toward the front. In the meantime Lawton's division, some three miles away, was making plenty of noise. At about 2,500 yards in front of Grimes' position on El Paso arose the gentle green hills of San Juan. At the principal position of the enemy were a flag, a redoubt, a blockhouse and some sort of pagoda. At 11:25 our artillery reopened on the central blockhouse and intrenchments. The Spanish fire had been remarkably fine. but it was our turn now. Grimes had his ranges to a nicety. It must have been about 2 o'clock when the enemy's battery again retorted.

Then one saw a thin line of black figures moving across a field. They disappeared in the forest. The enemy was keeping up a terrific fire. Then suddenly somebody yelled, "By God, there go our boys up the hill!" There is many a good American who would give an arm to get the thrill of patriotic insanity that coursed through us when we heard that yell. Yes, they were going up the hill, up the hill. It was the best moment of anybody's life. An officer said to me afterward, "If we had been in that position and the Spaniards had come at us, we would have piled them climbed over." But up went the regiments, with no music save that ceaseless, fierce crashing of rifles.

The road from El Paso to San Juan was now a terrible road. It should have a tragic fame like the sunken road at Waterloo. Why we did not later hang some of the gentry who contributed from the trees to the terror of this road is not known. The wounded were down her husband's gun from the wall, stringing back from the front, hundreds of them. Some walked unaided, an arm or a shoulder having been dressed at a field station. Others hobbled or clung to a friend's shoulders. Their slit trousers exposed red bandages. A few were shot horribly in the face and were led, bleeding and blind, by their mates. And then there were the slow pacing stretcher bearers with the dying or the insensible, the badly wounded, still figures with blood often drying brick color on their hot bandages.

Prostrate at the roadside were many others who had made their way thus far and were waiting for strength. Everywhere moved the sure handed, invaluable Red Cross men. Over this scene was a sort of haze of ballets

They were of two kinds. First, the Spanish lines were firing just a trifle high. Their bullets swept over our firing lines and poured into this devoted roadway, the single exit, even as it had been the single approach. The second fire was from guerrillas concealed in the trees and in the thickets along the trail. They had come in under the very wings of our strong advance, taken good positions on either side of the road and were peppering our line of communication whenever they got a good target, no matter apparently what the target

LESSON IN PISTOL PRACTICE

Lieutenant of the Fourth Immunes Taught a Moonshiner How to Shoot.

Second Lieutenant Howard Throckmorton of Company K, Fourth regiment of immunes, now at Fredericksburg, Va., reached New York the other day with five military prisoners, mempers of the regiment, charged with various offenses. Lieutenant Throckmorton is a member of the Mining Exchange of New York. He visited the exchange in the afternoon and told a story about another lientenant of the regiment who undertook to teach a lanky mountaineer recruit from the moonshining district of Tennessee how to shoot a revolver.

The lieutenant took great pains to tell the recruit how to handle the weapon, illustrating with much elaboration how the fingers should be placed and and 60c colored dres goods for the pistol aimed. The man seemed very clumsy, but very willing to learn. He listened to the lieutenant's instructions with care and then aimed the pistol, bang, went the revolver five times, and the bullets bumped against each other right in the center of the bullseye, 100 yards distant. The recruit grinned as he again asked if that was the way to shoot. As for the lieutenant, he decided that Tennessee moonshiners did not need much instruction in pistol practice. —Exchange.

IN THE SANTIAGO TRENCHES

Cool Daring of an American Soldier That Surprised a French Officer.

Daniel Davis of the Sixth United States infantry is at his home in Catasauqua, Pa., on a five days' furlough. He participated in the fighting before Santiago and, among other stories, relates this instance of the cool daring of a member of his regiment.

"I was lying in one of the trenches." he said. "About eight feet to my left was the French military attache, occupying a somewhat exposed position. Between the attache and me was a member of my company. Disdaining to lie down and hungry for a smoke, he reached into his pocket and took out a clay pipe and some tobacco. He had just when a Mauser bullet clipped the stem $2.98. close to his mouth. Looking down and seeing that the bowl was not broken and that sufficient of the stem remained to afford a purchase for his lips, he picked up the pipe, filled it with tobacco again, lit it and calmly proceeded to smoke. The French officer's eyes gleamed with admiration as he exclaimed:

" 'What stuff are you Americans made of anyway?' "

Cuban's Noble Errand.

Lieutenant Brunet, formerly of Maceo's staff and a well known Cuban patriot, recently passed through Jack- yard. sonville, Fla., on his way north on a liver a revolver that formerly belonged to Colonel Osgood of Chicago, an American hero who perished in Cuba, to his relatives. Osgood's relatives have never received any memento of him, and only the word of those who were fighting Cuba in a ten foot boat to Jamaica and 121/2c. thence in a schooner to the Florida coast. He landed at Miami the other morning.—Chicago Tribune.

Sectional Pride In the Army.

Looking down and seeing that the bowl was not broken and that sufficient of the stem remained to afford a purchase for his lips, he picked up the pipe, filled it with tobacco again, lit it and calmly proceeded to smoke. The French officer's eyes gleamed with admiration as he exclaimed:

"' 'What stuff are you Americans made of anyway?'

Cuban's Noble Errand.

Lieutenant Brunet, formerly of Maceo's staff and a well known Cuban patriot, recently passed through Jacksonville, Fla., on his way north on a most generous errand, and that is to deliver a revolver that formerly belonged to Colonel Osgood of Chicago, an American hero who perished in Cuba, to his relatives. Osgood's relatives have never received any memento of him, and only the word of those who were fighting with him was received to denote his death. Lieutenant Brunet sailed from Cuba in a ten foot boat to Jamaica and thence in a schooner to the Florida coast. He landed at Miami the other morning.—Chicago Tribune.

Sectional Pride In the Army.

A Maine soldier boy writes home that an Arkansas guard was chinning the Maine sentry, who was pacing his par-allel beat. "S'near as I can see, there ain't much difference atween we uns and you uns, 'cept that we uns reckon and you uns guess." "That's about all, neighbor," replied the Maine man, 'cept that we can guess a darn sight better than you can reckon."-Daily Kennebec Journal.

MRS. MAXWELL'S CASE

Testimony In a Divorce Action Was Heard.

UFR

HUSBAND'S REVOLVER

Was Among the Causes Which Brought About the Action—Temperance Meetings Attract Crowds—All the News of Wellsville.

Judge Smith on Saturday afternoon heard testimony in the Maxwell divorce

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Shaub, Mrs. Rosenberg, Mrs. William Makin and Mrs. Maxwell gave evidence. Maxwell, who is now a policeman in Cleveland, was not present.

The testimony served to show that Maxwell was jealous, and had a revolver which he threatened to use. There was anything but peace and quiet in the family, and at length Mrs. Maxwell left her husband. She also charged that he refused to support her. The couple were married in 1856.

The case will be continued Tuesday afternoon by Judge Smith.

The Temperance Meetings.

Reverend George W. Vibbert is giving the town a thorough shaking up on the temperance question.

Each evening an open air meeting is held at which some new feature of the question is presented. On Saturday evening the meeting was held opposite the city building instead of in the public square.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the corner of Third and Main a meeting was held. This place the reverend gentleman denominated the "Entrance to hell's half-acre." He said, with one exception, our Tophet was the toughest place he had ever been in.

Horse Ran Away.

Yesterday afternoon several people went to the vicinity of Spring Grove for a day in the woods. In the afternoon one-half of the company were driven down to the street car line and when returning the horse ran off and was with difficulty stopped before any serious damage was done. The driver was so frightened that he declared his intention to lead the horse into town.

Assaulted a Boy.

Saturday night a young man named Jones was assaulted near Twelfth street by a crowd of men and women. He was not badly hurt but the matter was reported to the police and is now being investigated.

A number of stories are in circulation concerning the affair.

Crescents Won.

The Crescents won a game Saturday afternoon from a Liverpool team under the name of the Eclipse. The score was 8 to 4.

The visitors did not score until the eighth when they got their four runs on an error and three hits. A large crowd was present.

Moved Her Effects.

Some time ago J. G. Elliott got judgment against Mrs. William Coyle for forcible detention of property, but the woman refused to move. Saturday afternoon she was absent from home, and her effects were put on the pavement.

The house is now empty.

The News of Wellsville.

Mrs. Susanna Poe left today for a visit with friends in Steubenville.

Mrs. Ben Williamson, of Congo, has been suffering the past week with an acute attack of nervous prostration. She is somewhat improved at present.

A little child of Mr. Bagley, who resides in First street, died on Sabbath morning after a short illness. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock today.

Mrs. Mary S. Whitlock, who has been visiting the family of C. R. Arnold, left today for her home in Andover, Mass.

T. P. Dolan, who was injured on the railroad about a month ago, has so far recovered after treatment at a Pittsburg hospital that he is able to return to his former home. He expects to return to his work soon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Byrne will spend the next two weeks in Spring Grove. C. V. Shoub went to Toronto on business today.

John Patterson, William Armstrong, Jack Patterson, Fred Stoffel, Jr., Martin Welch and Henry Patterson were the members of the fishing club who left town on the 5th of July. They camped on Beaver creek. They returned home Saturday.

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Label at the head of their columns.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

THE stock gamblers of Europe are probably responsible for all these peace rumors. They are a shrewd lot of gamesters, and know well the art of Price, accompanied by three men, went turning speculation into gold.

WITH Commodore Schley a conspicuous figure in the fighting portion of this Spanish matter, and his relative equally prominent in the effort to bring about peace, the family seems well represented.

THE war is bringing out some interesting facts, and none are more interesting than those which deal with the opinions of Europe. Military and naval authorities across the water are still wondering at the signal success of the Santiago campaign.

THE people who continue to growl because the war is not being carried on as they desire, and who make mountains of mole hills, will learn if the contest is to continue any length of time that this government is doing its best, and that is doubtless better than could be done by any other nation on earth.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

The determination of the health authorities to protest against further pollution of the Ohio river is commendaable in the extreme, and it is hoped Doctor Ogden and every other official on the stream will waste no time. There is no reason why people living below the iron manufacturing district should be compelled to drink what is little better than rank poison, if there is any law or regulation to prevent it.

WHEN PEACE IS DUE.

This government did not declare war against Spain for the purpose of displaying its military powers nor yet to gather up all the island possessions of its enemy, but now that war is in progress and the United States has been put to great expense there is no reason why operations should not be rapidly pushed until Spain can do nothing but come to our terms. The occupation of the Philippines and Porto Rico does not of necessity mean the extension of empire, but it is spre that when strong American forces hold these places, peace can only be obtained when Uncle Sam dictates the particulars. No patriotic American wants the war extended one day beyond the limit, but that limit means such indemnity as we may desire and freedom for Cuba.

AN OLD GAME.

If the politicians who lead the Democrats of the Eighteenth district desire to elect their candidate they must use means other than the repeated assertion that there is "feeling" against Hon. R. W. Tayler.

The people of the district are intelligent. They want an issue on which the battle can be fought. The Republican platform is plain, and the people understand it. The Democrats must make their cause equally clear if they hope for success. The mere statement in a newspaper that Mr. Tayler is not popular will have little influence. It may give the editor who wrote it some feeling of satisfaction, but so far as aiding in the gathering of votes for his candidate it is worthless. He can write that sort of stuff until the cows come home, and be very much like the man who would lift himself by his bootstraps.

Bright and spicy—the NEWS REVIEW.

The News Review. BELIEVED IT MURDER

ANXIOUS

Until He Learned That It Was Not Best to Open the New Grave-The Smell Was Most Pronounced Before the Cause Was Discovered.

For several days the office force at the Brunt Porcelain works have been smelling smells that almost compelled them to lock up the plant and go home. When the dead fish began to pass it was suggested that cause could be found there, but the smell seemed too annoying to come even from that source.

At length it was decided to investigate, and parties living in that section joined heartily in the search. Then the cause was found in a sewer where was the putrifying carcaes of a dog. The animal had been dead a long time. The body was removed at once, and those who suffered are now hoping the name of the individual who threw it in the sewer will be found. The story has a sequel.

Several days ago Robert Price lost his dog which was aged 17 years. He spent much time hunting the animal but to no avail and it was finally found by Sanitary Officer Burgess in the sewer in Market street. He notified Price at once and late Saturday to the spot for the purpose of burying the animal. It was carefully wrapped up in carpet and carried to the river bank where a deep hole was made and the remains of the animal carefully deposited.

The mysterious actions of the men were watched by a woman on a boat who was of the opinion a murder had been committed and the body was interred along the river bank. She did not tell her story until yesterday afternoon when a small boy appeared at the office of the mayor and securing Officer White took the spot. She then how the men had conversed in low tones and by the light of the lantern she had seen them carry something and then bury it. An examination was made of the grave, but Officer White decided to do nothing until he laid the case before Chief Johnson.

He carried the story all the day, but at the first opportunity told Chief Johnson and related all the facts to him, but the chief had been informed of the burial of the dog or the officers might have dug up the remains of the poor old animal, believing them to be that of a murdered

Cheering News From Colonel Hard, of the Late Saturday afternoon the NEWS REVIEW received the cheering news that the soldiers of Company E were at Santiago and all well.

The news reached this office from Wooster where a short time before Mrs. C. V. Hard, wife of Colonel Hard, had received from him a cablegram. It was dated at Santiago Saturday morning. and said nothing but that the soldiers vere all well.

The information was at once bulletined, and served to comfort many friends of Liverpool's soldiers, who feared the boys might be attacked by

IN ALLIANCE

Will the Union Reform Party Hold Its Convention.

When the minority parties of Ohio perfected a union at Columbus last May and was joined by what are known as the free silver Republicans, it was decided to push the campaign throughout the state and have a candidate in every congressional district.

The leaders of the combination in the Eighteenth have decided to follow out the program, and have selected Alliance as the place, and July 30 as the time for holding the convention. Nothing has yet been said of candidates.

No More Sloppy Spots.

Sanitary Officer Burgess this morning notified the residents of Jethro street that they must stop allowing waste water to go over the pavements, and put in the proper drains. It is probable the order will be complied with at once.

Opera House Directors.

The directors of the opera house will hold their annual meeting within the next few weeks. The management of the house for next season will be considered and other important details will be attended to.

THE DIAMOND WELL

Residents Are Complaining of Misman

The Diamond pump stopped running But It Was Only an Old Dead yesterday afternoon, and needs a thorough overhauling.

It is estimated that at least 1,000 people went thirsty yesterday, and, in the opinion of a great many people, it is time the city took charge of the pump and sees that it is kept running. It is, in their opinion, a public institution, and now that it needs repairing council should see that the work is done as soon as possible. The pump fund is exhausted and there is no way to keep it going unless the city pays the expenses. The matter will be brought up in council tomorrow evening and thoroughly discussed.

COMING BACK.

One Report Says the Boys Will Go to North Carolina.

A special from Tampa says :

"A high official was asked today what his idea was about the apparent change in the orders moving troops from this place. He said that he had it from headquarters that there was to be a considerable change in many ways. To begin with, the army was to be moved from Santiago as quickly as possible; they are to go to the mountains of North Carolina, where the yellow fever will be stamped out entirely. This is to be done in about a month, and the men given a good rest. Then they are to fall on Porto Rico or Havana, whichever place may need them."

LANDED IN SAFETY

Sergeant Trump Writes That All Are

Mrs. Trump this morning received a letter from her husband, Sergeant F. L. Trump, of Company E.

It was dated July 11, and said the command had landed that morning on Cuban soil, and would march at once. All were well at that time. They were then preparing to move to the front, and the letter was brought to a sudden end.

On the River.

Rivermen are anxiously awaiting a rise, but as yet their hopes have not been realized. Since Saturday the river has been falling slowly, and this morning the marks at the wharf were 2.8

Boats are unable to run, and the only craft on the river last night were numerous skiffs.

Travelers Have Gone.

W. A. Rhodes left for the east this morning in the interest of the Knowles. Taylor & Knowles pottery. He will be gone several months.

Thomas Smith left for the south east this morning in the interest of the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery.

Fell From a Car.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

THE stock gamblers of Europe are probably responsible for all these peace ramors. They are a shrewd lot of gamesters, and know well the art of turning speculation into geld.

WITH Commodore Schley a conspicuous figure in the fighting portion of this Spanish matter, and his relative equally prominent in the effort to bring about posited. peace, the family seems well represented.

THE war is bringing out some interesting facts, and none are more interesting than those which deal with the opinions of Europe. Military and naval authorities across the water are still wondering at the signal success of the Santiago campaign.

THE people who continue to growl because the war is not being carried on as they desire, and who make mountains of mole hills, will learn if the contest is to continue any length of time that this government is doing its best, and that is doubtless better than could be done by any other nation on earth.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

The determination of the health authorities to protest against further pollution of the Ohio river is commendaable in the extreme, and it is hoped Doctor Ogden and every other official on the stream will waste no time. There 18 no reason why people living below the iron manufacturing district should be compelled to drink what is little better than rank poison, if there is any law or regulation to prevent it.

WHEN PEACE IS DUE.

This government did not declare war against Spain for the purpose of displaying its military powers nor yet to gather up all the island possessions of its enemy, but now that war is in progress and the United States has been put to great expense there is no reason why operations should not be rapidly pushed until Spain can do nothing but come to our terms. The occupation of the Philippines and Porto Rico does not of necessity mean the extension of empire, but it is spre that when strong American forces hold these places. peace can only be obtained when Uncle Sam dictates the particulars. No patriotic American wants the war extended one day beyond the limit, but that limit means such indemnity as we may desire and freedom for Cuba.

AN OLD GAME.

If the politicians who lead the Democrats of the Eighteenth district desire to elect their candidate they must use means other than the repeated assertion that there is "feeling" against Hon. R. W. Tayler.

The people of the district are intelligent. They want an issue on which the battle can be fought. The Republican platform is plain, and the people understand it. The Democrats must make their cause equally clear if they hope for success. The mere statement in a newspaper that Mr. Tayler is not popular will have little influence. It may give the editor who wrote it some feeling of satisfaction, but so far as aiding in the gathering of votes for his candidate it is worthless. He can write that sort of stuff until the cows come home, and be very much like the man who would lift himself by his bootstraps.

The News Review. BELIEVED IT MURDER

But It Was Only an Old Dead

Until He Learned That It Was Not Best to Open the New Grave-The Smell Was Most Pronounced Before the Cause Was Discovered.

For several days the office force at the Brunt Porcelain works have been smelling smells that almost compelled them to lock up the plant and go home. When the dead fish began to pass it was suggested that cause could be found there. but the smell seemed too annoying to come even from that source.

At length it was decided to investigate, and parties living in that section joined heartily in the search. Then the cause was found in a sewer where was the putrifying carcaes of a dog. The animal had been dead a long time. The body was removed at once, and those who suffered are now hoping the name of the individual who threw it in the sewer will be found. The story has a sequel.

Several days ago Robert Price lost his dog which was aged 17 years. He spent much time hunting the animal but to no avail and it was finally found by Sanitary Officer Burgess in the sewer in Market street. He notified Price at once and late Saturday night Price, accompanied by three men, went to the spot for the purpose of burying the animal. It was carefully wrapped up in carpet and carried to the river bank where a deep hole was made and the remains of the animal carefully de-

The mysterious actions of the men were watched by a woman on a boat who was of the opinion a murder had been committed and the body was interred along the river bank. She did not tell her story until yesterday afternoon when a small boy appeared at the office of the mayor and securing Officer White took him She then the spot. how the men had conversed in low tones and by the light of the lantern she had seen them carry something and then bury it. An examination was made of the grave, but Officer White decided to do nothing until he laid the case before Chief Johnson.

He carried the story all the day, but at the first opportunity told Chief Johnson and related all the facts to him, but the chief had been informed of the burial of the dog or the officers might have dug up the remains of the poor old animal believing them to be that of a murdered

The news reached this office from Wooster where a short time before Mrs. C. V. Hard, wife of Colonel Hard, had received from him a cablegram. It was dated at Santiago Saturday morning. and said nothing but that the soldiers were all well.

The information was at once bulletined, and served to comfort many friends of Liverpool's soldiers, who feared the boys might be attacked by

IN ALLIANCE

Will the Union Reform Party Hold Its Convention.

When the minority parties of Ohio perfected a union at Columbus last May and was joined by what are known as the free silver Republicans, it was decided to push the campaign throughout the state and have a candidate in every congressional district.

The leaders of the combination in the Eighteenth have decided to follow out the program, and have selected Alliance as the place, and July 30 as the time for holding the convention. Nothing has yet been said of candidates.

THE DIAMOND WELL

Residents Are Complaining of Misman-

The Diamond pump stopped running yesterday afternoon, and needs a thorough overhauling.

It is estimated that at least 1,000 people went thirsty yesterday, and, in the opinion of a great many people, it is time the city took charge of the pump and sees that it is kept running. It is, in their opinion, a public institution, and now that it needs repairing council should see that the work is done as soon as possible. The pump fund is exhausted and there is no way to keep it going unless the city pays the expenses. The matter will be brought up in council tomorrow evening and thoroughly discussed.

One Report Says the Boys Will Go to North Carolina.

A special from Tampa says :

"A high official was asked today what his idea was about the apparent change in the orders moving troops from this place. He said that he had it from headquarters that there was to be a considerable change in many ways. To begin with, the army was to be moved from Santiago as quickly as possible; they are to go to the mountains of North Carolina, where the yellow fever will be stamped out entirely. This is to be done in about a month, and the men given a good rest. Then they are to fall on Porto Rico or Havana, whichever place may need them."

A Man Named Cain Was Shot.

KNOWS THE DETAILS

Except Those Who Refuse to Talk of the Affair-The Wound Was Dressed by Doctor Hobbs, but the Man Did Not Explain.

A man giving the name of Cain entered a Sixth street restaurant about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. He was bleeding from a wound in his head, and face could hardly be seen on account of blood. Those about the place washed his face and head. He ate a lunch and then went to the office of Doctor Hobbs. Cain said he was about to enter a house beyond the West End trestle when a woman appeared at a window and discharged a revolver. The ball struck Cain in the head, making a bad scalp wound. The physician closed the wound with several stitches and Cain went away.

This morning Officer McMillan was seen but he knew nothing of the trouble. He heard of the trouble yesterday and immediately investigated the matter. Those living in that district say the only noise they heard Saturday night was some loud talking on the bridge and nothing more.

The shooting is surrounded by mystery and no one is able to tell anything about

He Wanted the Case to Go to Court, But Mayor Bough Showed That It Must Be Settled Here-Plumbers Who Forgot the Law Suffer.

Officers Mahony, McMillan and White yesterday morning at 10 o'clock surrounded the saloon owned by John Kountz, in the Midway, and shortly afterward placed the proprietor, William Wyant, Hugh George, Edward McCullough, James McCaugheney and Benjamin Wyand under arrest.

Officers for several days past have been watching the place, but had no opportunity to make an arrest until yesterday morning. When White entered the place four men were captured upstairs, and Kountz and another visitor were caught in the bar. The officer read the warrant to Kountz over the bar, and in going upstairs told all the visitors to appear before the mayor this morning. -G. Bendheim returned Saturday When the officers came out of the saloon it was just 10:30 o'clock.

All the men were in the mayor's office this morning including the officers, Mahony being the only one absent. Kountz became bold, and while the mayor read the charge of keeping a saloon open on Sunday and permitting people to loaf in the same he pleaded not guilty and said he would carry it to court. Everybody in the room was surprised at the action, and it was several minutes before Mayor Bough told him the case must be settled right here as he had been arrested under an ordinance.

William Wyand was the first one to whom a charge of loitering in a saloon was read. He pleaded guilty, and pulling $10 out of his pocket, paid his fine of $5 and costs and did not say a word. Mayor Bough tried to find what he got in the place, but he said he was in only about five minutes before the officers

Hugh George was next. He was arrested on the same charge. He pleaded committed to jail until paid, Later on an order was given for the money and he was released.

Edward McCullough had the same charge against him. He paid $5 and costs and went away happy.

Benjamin Wyand this afternoon was fined $5.

Friday afternoon Officers McMillan and Grim arrested Patrick McCullough and William Green in Fourth street. Both were charged with disorderly conduct. Late Saturday afternoon both men appeared and McCullough was fined $6.60, which he paid. Green pleaded not guilty and will be given trial tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Friday evening Clerk J. W. Gipner, of the water works, upon information given by Superintendent Morley, made information against W. H. McCormick of Wellsville. Ben Davidson and John E. Porter, of this city. McCormick was charged with not filing a plumbers' bond and violating the water works rules. Davidson was charged the same, and Poter with violation of rules. McCormick was fined $5.60 Saturday afternoon, but the other men had not appeared at a late hour this afternoon.

All the men are plumbers and are the first to be arrested on such a charge within two years.

GO TO THE GOVERNMENT

Local Officials Want No More Dead Fish

POLLUTING THE WATER SUPPLY

Doctor Ogden Will Communicate With Other Health Officers Along the River and Will Push the Matter-Different Causes Are Given.

The fact that the river has for several days been filled with dead fish has aroused the health authorities, and if necessary the matter will be taken to the government authorities.

The water department, because of the lack of storage capacity, has been unable to do any thing but notify the health department of the unusual conriver water is never the best for drinking purposes, but with the quantity of rotting animal matter it now contains every consumer should boil it before drinking.

Doctor Ogden has decided to push the matter at once. He will communicate river, and the matter will be taken to the proper authorities in Ohio, and if relief cannot be found there the doctor will take it to the federal authorities. He has reason to believe they will act quickly and the nuisance will end with this year.

A Pittsburg paper of yesterday had this to say about the dead fish:

"Camping parties tenting across the Youghiogheny river report that the fish in the stream are dying as a result of refuse acids being emptied by a tannery. Similar reports came from parties camping along the Monongahela and Ohio river. Fish Warden Sharp will be asked to make an investigation of the matter at once. The river water is said to have been foul the last few days as far south as Davis island dam."

That view is not taken here. The authorities have passed through similar experiences and feel confident the iron mills are responsible.

An enormous number of dead fish passed down the river Saturday, but at midnight the rush was over. Thousands were piled at the head of the island above the city, and others were caught by barges. The stench arising from them was indescribable, and caused much annoyance.

SPRING GROVE.

Happening at the Pleasant

The services at the campground held yesterday were largely attended.

Miss Louette Bertolette, of Leetonia. is the guest of Miss Sue Stevenson.

Miss Clara Wallace, of Wheeling, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Chetwynd.

Roy Banta, of Lima, is the guest of his aunt, Mrs R. L. Herbert.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Grosshans are residing at the dormitory.

The large tent in which services are held is being put up today.

The upper well was pumped dry Saturday and the hole will be put down many feet deeper.

Misses Eva and Mabel Litchenberger, of Bellaire, will return home tomorrow after a pleasant visit at the ground.

Charles J. Albright, of East Palestine, spent Sunday at the ground.

STRUCK HIS WIFE.

Her Face Discolored by Her Augry Husband.

An individual who lives in the lower part of town and evidently believes he is a man, became involved in a quarrel with his wife yesterday and struck her.

The poor woman was almost felled by the force of the blow, and soon afterward her face was black where the husband's fist had landed.

Neighbors who heard of the affair discussed the advisability of having the man arrested, but it was decided to take no action at present. If, however, his brutal instincts get the better of him again he will be taken before Mayor Bough to explain.

AFTER THE BALL HIT HIM.

Sensation of Lieutenant W. H. Wassell, Who Was Shot at El Caney.

First Lieutenant W. H. Wassell, Twenty-second United States infantry, writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Wassell of Pittsburg, says: "I was shot about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 1 while storming El Caney, northeast of Santiago. I was looking through fieldglasses at the time, and the ball cut through the outer part of the little finger of the left hand, joint next to the hand, then through the palm of my hand, out just below the index finger, then in the cheek about half an inch from the left corner of my mouth, back through my mouth, taking several back teeth, downward through my neck, still downward and toward my spine, coming out about halfway down my back and about four inches from my spine. I haven't a bone broken. I can swallow, and, thank God, I am strong, and, aside from possible scar, I will be no worse off.

"I will never forget the sensation of dition. Doctor Ogden realizes that Ohio being shot. We had been under fire all day—the hottest rain of bullets that men ever went up against. The Spaniards were all intrenched. They shot us from behind their earthworks, blockhouses, trees and church towers. All at once it seemed as if I was lifted up from the ground and whirled round and round, oh, so terribly fast! I never lost with health officers at points down the consciousness during the sensation. I felt myself going, but I seemed to realize that if I let myself go it would be all over, so I took a brace and after what seemed an age of this awful whirling I was dropped to the ground. Then it seemed as if no one would notice that I had been hit.

"It seemed an age before I heard a man swear and say, 'They have hit Lieutenant Wassell.' He picked me up to carry me down behind the crest of the hill, and what a storm of bullets the poor fellow got as he raised me. One of the men dressed me as well as he could with my first aid bandages, and I lay under a tree until about 6 o'clock. About that time some of the Spaniards began a riot on the other side of me and for a little while the bullets from friend and foe whirled over me and struck near me. About sundown, the firing having ceased, I was carried about a mile to the bridge hospital. Here I was dressed. The doctors were worked to death and did their best."-Providence Journal.

CAUGHT CERVERA FLEEING.

Newark Lad Tells How He Saw the Spanish Fleet Emerge From Santiago.

Joseph T. Gaskin, signal boy on the Iowa, says he was the first to discover the Spanish fleet making its way out of Santiago harbor. Gaskin's home is in Warren street, Newark. In a letter to his sister, Mrs. M. H. Smith, who lives at 102 Littleton avenue, young Gaskin says that at 8 a. m. he went on deck as usual for signal watch. He had noticed suspicious indications the previous day and resolved to keep a close watch. An hour afterward be reported that smoke he had observed in the harbor the day previous had moved nearer the entrance. and at 9:15 he reported that the smoke was "moving more so."

"Then," says Gaskin, "of my own accord I bent on the signal 2-5-0, which means 'the enemy's ships escaping,' and laid it on the bridge ready to hoist. At 9:30, just as the navigator was taking the deck, I reported a large, black ship, with two stacks and two military masts in the entrance. The navigator, without looking, said, 'Bend on the emergency signal.' With that I ran it up to the yardarm. He said: 'Sound the alarm, bugler! Sound general quarters!' I was waiting to sound the alarm, and in two minutes the ship was reported ready for action.

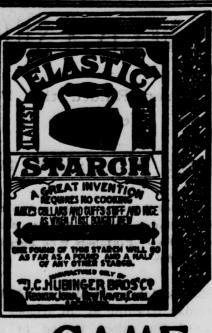

"At 9:35 the Vizcaya opened fire and was answered from our ship with a 13 inch gun. Then there came a stream of fire from the forts and ships, and all directed at the Iowa, but she seemed to be charmed, for not a shell struck her. Captain Evans sang out ahead, 'Full speed both engines!' and soon we were closing up on the leader of the dagoes.' Gaskin here recites the story of the fight as seen from the deck of the Iowa. He is 21 years old, was born in Newark and has served in the navy two years. -New York Tribune.

A Soldier's Spiral Wound.

The doctors at the division hospital in Tampa are fairly mystified at the extraordinary nature of some wounds inflicted by the Mauser rifle bullets. In the case of one man the bullet penetrated his belt plate, ran around his body under the skin of the abdomen, took a downward course through the muscles of the right leg and came out at the back of the calf. The bullet was found in the man's clothing, slightly bent. -Cincinnati Enquirer.

BRIEF WAR NOTES.

The Red Cross steamer State of Texas distributed 1,400 tons of provisions to the hungry of Santiago.

German-Americans of New York declared they would take up arms against the kaiser should there be war between America and Germany.

Through official channels the government has been assured that the offensive acts of German commanders in the Philippines are unauthorized by the Berlin authorities.

Madrid is informed by Blanco that he did not authorize Toral to surrender Santiago. Captured officers say Linares made Toral a scapegoat. Toral will be court martialed.

The plan for the presentation of a battleship to the United States government by German-American citizens is indorsed by prominent men of that class in many of the principal cities.

Several of the powers are said to be urging Spain to make haste in seeking peace, lest Watson's coming into the old world may drag them into the war. For precisely the same reason Spain is less inclined now to propose peace.

Wheeler at Santiago.

[General Wheeler started on the two miles' journey to the front in an ambulance. About half way to the front he met some litters bearing wounded. The veteran, against the protest of the surgeons, immediately ordered his horse and, after personally assisting the wounded into the ambulance, mounted and rode onward. The men burst into frantic cheers, which followed the general all along the line.—Cor. New York Tribune.] Into the thick of the fight he went, pallid and

Summer In Colorado.

Colorado is particularly inviting as a summer haven. The climate is remarkable for its invigorating effect, and the state is rich in grand scenery and points of interest where a vacation may be pleasantly spent. Special arrangements are being made for the entertainment of visitors who are this season expected to be attracted to the seclusion and quiet of the Rockies and the hills and canyons of that great wonderland.

Colorado today is nearer home than in former years. The fast schedules of the Pennsylvania route and connecting lines bring the centennial state within easy reach, and the cost of a trip thither is no longer a luxury. The special low rate tourist tickets over the Pennsylvania lines places the cost for transportation within the limit of the usual allowance for vacation trips. GO TO THE GOVERNMENT

POLLUTING THE WATER SUPPLY

Doctor Ogden Will Communicate With Other Health Officers Along the River and Will Push the Matter-Different Causes Are Given.

The fact that the river has for several days been filled with dead fish has aroused the health authorities, and if necessary the matter will be taken to the government authorities,

The water department, because of the lack of storage capacity, has been unable to do any thing but notify the health department of the unusual condition. Doctor Ogden realizes that Ohio river water is never the best for drinking purposes, but with the quantity of rotting animal matter it now contains every consumer should boil it before drinking.

Doctor Ogden has decided to push the matter at once. He will communicate with health officers at points down the river, and the matter will be taken to the proper authorities in Ohio, and if relief cannot be found there the doctor will take it to the federal authorities. He has reason to believe they will act quickly and the nuisance will end with this year.

A Pittsburg paper of yesterday had this to say about the dead fish:

'Camping parties tenting across the Youghiogheny river report that the fish in the stream are dying as a result of refuse acids being emptied by a tannery. Similar reports came from parties camping along the Monongahela and Ohio river. Fish Warden Sharp will be asked to make an investigation of the matter at once. The river water is said to have been foul the last few days as far south as Davis island dam."

That view is not taken here. The authorities have passed through similar experiences and feel confident the iron mills are responsible.

An enormous number of dead fish passed down the river Saturday, but at midnight the rush was over. Thousands were piled at the head of the island above the city, and others were caught by barges. The stench arising from them was indescribable, and caused much annoyance.

SPRING GROVE.

The services at the campground held yesterday were largely attended. Miss Louette Bertolette, of Leetonia, is the guest of Miss Sue Stevenson.

Miss Clara Wallace. of Wheeling, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Chetwynd.

Roy Banta, of Lima, is the guest of his aunt, Mrs R. L. Herbert.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Grosshans are residing at the dormitory.

The large tent in which services are held is being put up today.

The upper well was pumped dry Saturday and the hole will be put down many feet deeper.

Misses Eva and Mabel Litchenberger, of Bellaire, will return home tomorrow after a pleasant visit at the ground.

Charles J. Albright, of East Palestine, spent Sunday at the ground.

STRUCK HIS WIFE.

Her Face Discolored by Her Augry Husband.

An individual who lives in the lower part of town and evidently believes he is a man, became involved in a quarrel with his wife yesterday and struck her.

The poor woman was almost felled by the force of the blow, and soon afterward her face was black where the husband's fist had landed.

Neighbors who heard of the affair discussed the advisability of having the man arrested, but it was decided to take no action at present. If, however, his brutal instincts get the better of him again he will be taken before Mayor Bough to explain.

Change In Boats.

The new steamer Avalon owned by Captain Green, of the Bedford, is about completed and will make its first trip, it is thought, within the next few weeks.

The Ben Hur is now in the Cincinnati trade, and it is said will not enter the Pittsburg trade again.

AFTER THE BALL HIT HIM.

Sensation of Lieutenant W. H. Wassell, Who Was Shot at El Caney.

First Lieutenant W. H. Wassell, Twenty-second United States infantry, writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Wassell of Pittsburg, says: "I was shot about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 1 while storming El Caney, northeast of Santiago. I was looking through fieldglasses at the time, and the ball cut through the outer part of the little finger of the left hand, joint next to the hand, then through the palm of my hand, out just below the index finger, then in the cheek about half an inch from the left corner of my mouth, back through my mouth, taking several back teeth, downward through my neck, still downward and toward my spine, coming out about halfway down my back and about four inches from my spine. I haven't a bone broken. I can swallow, and, thank God, I am strong, and, aside from possible scar, I will be no worse off.

"I will never forget the sensation of being shot. We had been under fire all day-the hottest rain of bullets that men ever went up against. The Spaniards were all intrenched. They shot us from behind their earthworks, blockhouses, trees and church towers. All at once it seemed as if I was lifted up from the ground and whirled round and round, oh, so terribly fast! I never lost consciousness during the sensation. I felt myself going, but I seemed to realize that if I let myself go it would be all over, so I took a brace and after what seemed an age of this awful whirling I was dropped to the ground. Then it seemed as if no one would notice that I had been hit. "It seemed an age before I heard a man swear and say, 'They have hit Lieutenant Wassell.' He picked me up to carry me down behind the crest of the hill, and what a storm of bullets the poor fellow got as he raised me. One of the men dressed me as well as he could with my first aid bandages, and I lay under a tree until about 6 o'clock. About that time some of the Spaniards began a riot on the other side of me and for a little while the bullets from friend and foe whirled over me and struck near me. About sundown, the firing having ceased, I was carried about a mile to the bridge hospital. Here I was dressed. The doctors were

Newark Lad Tells How He Saw the Span ish Fleet Emerge From Santiago.

Providence Journal.

Joseph T. Gaskin, signal boy on the Iowa, says he was the first to discover the Spanish fleet making its way out of Santiago harbor. Gaskin's home is in Warren street, Newark. In a letter to his sister, Mrs. M. H. Smith, who lives at 102 Littleton avenue, young Gaskin says that at 8 a. m. he went on deck as usual for signal watch. He had noticed suspicious indications the previous day and resolved to keep a close watch. An hour afterward he reported that smoke he had observed in the harbor the day previous had moved nearer the entrance, and at 9:15 he reported that the smoke was "moving more so."

"Then," says Gaskin, "of my own accord I bent on the signal 2-5-0, which means 'the enemy's ships escaping,' and laid it on the bridge ready to hoist. At 9:30, just as the navigator was taking the deck, I reported a large, black ship, with two stacks and two military masts in the entrance. The navigator, without looking, said, 'Bend on the emergency signal.' With that I ran it up to the yardarm. He said: 'Sound the alarm, bugler! Sound general quarters!' I was waiting to sound the alarm, and in two minutes the ship was reported ready for action.

"At 9:35 the Vizcaya opened fire and was answered from our ship with a 13 inch gun. Then there came a stream of fire from the forts and ships, and all directed at the Iowa, but she seemed to be charmed, for not a shell struck her. Captain Evans sang out ahead, 'Full speed both engines!' and soon we were closing up on the leader of the dagoes.' Gaskin here recites the story of the fight as seen from the deck of the Iowa. He is 21 years old, was born in Newark and has served in the navy two years. -New York Tribune.

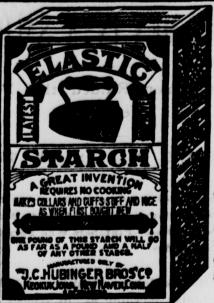

A Soldier's Spiral Wound.

The doctors at the division hospital in Tampa are fairly mystified at the extraordinary nature of some wounds inflicted by the Mauser rifle bullets. In the case of one man the bullet penetrated his belt plate, ran around his body under the skin of the abdomen, took a downward course through the muscles of the right leg and came out at the back of the calf. The bullet was found in the man's clothing, slightly bent. -Cincinnati Enquirer.

Wheeler at Santiago.

[General Wheeler started on the two miles' journey to the front in an ambulance. About half way to the front he met some litters bearing wounded. Homestead Was Ready For Business.

NO CHANCE FOR EAST LIVERPOOL

The Team Were Not Strong When They Faced Their Opponents, and the First Few Innings Showed the Uselessness of Carrying on the Struggle.

Saturday was a poor day in basebal for East Liverpool.

The home team met crushing defeat at Homestead, and were shutout for the first time this year. Only 30 men faced the Homestead pitchers. Cotter pitched the first six innings, and although the local players could do nothing with him he was replaced by Waddell, who had the East Liverpool players completely at his mercy striking out 10 men in the four innings.

Hugh McCarron was an easy mark for Homestead and they batted him all over the field, making hits whenever they so desired. The score:

Says the New York Crockery Journal: "It has been a very dull week in business circles. The weather has been warm and uncomfortable, very few buyers have been about, and the few who have been seen were not inclined to spend very much money. As a redeeming feature these same buyers agree that there will be a good trade in the fall and that they will require goods; but when urged to buy now say there is plenty of time. Dr. Alvah H. Doty, health officer of the port of New York, has been investigating the theory of the specific organism of yellow fever, as developed by Professor Sanarelli, and has advanced as far as the South American bacteriologist. He expects to know from the result of certain experiments to be made in the next few weeks whether or not he and his assistants have produced a serum which will differ from that of Dr. Sanarelli only in strength. It will be superior in that respect, owing to the fact that it is newer than that made by the Italian. If Professor Sanarelli's serum is what he believes it to be. Dr. Doty will have a remedy for those who are afflicted with yellow fever and a preventive of the disease in those who are inoculated with it.

Dr. Doty has no doubt of the success of his coming experiments. It can readily be seen how vastly important to the welfare of the United States Sanarelli's discovery and the investigations of Dr.

Doty will prove. Dr. Doty said recently: "The statement made some time ago by Professor Sanarelli of Montevideo that he had discovered the specific organism of yellow fever has not occupied the public attention so fully in the United States as it has in South America and other countries which are constantly menaced by this disease. However, our present close relations with Cuba will probably bring to this subject the consideration which it certainly deserves. Although Sanarelli made the announcement of his discovery two years ago, his conclusions have not yet been generally accepted. While he has supporters, there are distinguished bacteriologists who will not admit that the specific organism has been found and assert that what Sanarelli has presented is simply a bacillus which has no speal relation to yellow fever." go Tribune.

A Popular Chaplain.

The wounded men of the Seventy-first regiment say that the Rev. George R. Van De Water, their chaplain, went through the charge on San Juan without a scatch, and in the days after the battle labored, without sparing himself, in the hospitals with the wounded. His duty as a chaplain did not require him to charge with his regiment, but his presence in the fighting line was cheering to the men. Dr. Van De Water is a large man, with a very ruddy face and a hearty, cheerful address which has made him very popular with the soldiers. The Man Who Cooks the Grab. We have read in song and story Of "the man behind the gun." He is given all the glory Of the battles that are won. They are filling up the papers With his apotheosis, And they tell about his capers
While the shells above him hiss, But behind the grimy gunner, Steadfast through the wild hubbub, Stands a greater god of battles— 'Tis the man who cooks the grub.

When the sky is rent with thunder
And the shell screams through the air, When some fort is rent asunder And destruction revels there, When the men in line go rushing On to glory or to woe With the maddened charges crushing Heroes who are lying low, There is one but for whose labors There could be no wild hubbub And the greatest god of battles Is the man who cooks the grub.

What of ships with armor plating? What of castles on the heights? What of anxious captains waiting While the careful gunner sighte What of all the long range rifles?
What of men with valiant hearts? These were but impotent trifles, But inconsequential parts
Of the whole, without the fellow Who must scour, scrape and scrub-For the greatest god of battles Is the man who cooks the grub.

Description of the Province of Eastern Cuba.

REGION CONTAINS GOOD HARBORS.

Soil Is Extremely Fertile, and There Are Many Partially Developed Mineral Resources-The Forests Are Almost Unexplored-Its Area Is Over 10,000 Square Miles, With About 18,000 Inhabitants. Harbor of Santiago Is the Key to the District at All Times-Climate of Eastern Cube.

The territory in eastern Cuba, recently surrendered by General Toral, embraces about one-third of that province, certainly its most valuable part, if one considers its marvelous fertility as a sugar and coffee district and its inexhaustible deposits of iron ore and manganese

The harbor of Santiago de Cuba is one of the largest in the West Indies. Its extent and beauty are too well known to require any new description. Its importance from a naval and military standpoint is of the highest order. Whoever holds that harbor commands eastern Cuba. The harbor is to eastern Cuba what the harbor of Havana is to western Cuba. It is the key to the district at all times. The Morro and La Socapa forts, if modernized, can make for any fleet the entrance to its harbor an impossibility. As a coaling station, as a refuge in the hurricane season, its perfectly landlocked harbor holds first rank. That old time city, properly fortified, could bid defiance to many a modern power. Its value and future will depend on who possesses it. If left in the hands of the laissez faire Cubans, it will be, as it was up to today, the land of manana, or of tomorrow. Its geographical position makes the harbor an absolute essential to the province for six or seven months of the year, when the soft and imperfect roads of the interior and coast sections are wholly or nearly impassable, owing to the copious tropical downpours.

The city of Santiago during the rains is almost cut off from the interior, save by a short and unimportant section of railway. It communicates by sea with neighboring ports on the island and ships to the outer world sugar, coffee. dye and other woods, iron ore, manganese and fruits. To that outer world she looks for her daily bread, her food stuffs, canned goods and the articles of everyday life and commerce. They come to her by water and have so come for nearly four centuries. Until railways develop the interior and communicate with other ports the highway to Santiago will still be by the open sea. Santiago before the war had an estimated population of 71,000, of whom more than three-fourths were Spanish negroes and their descendants, the whole being the descendants of the African slaves sold in Cuba, the last of whom were freed about 12 years ago. The black element in eastern Cuba is in a vast majority. Some thousands of the whites hitherto have been Spanish officers and soldiers, naval officers and sailors, and the rest merchants and planters. While the majority are of Spanish or Cuban descent many are English, French, Germans and Americans. Many Spanish officers married Cuban wives, and many upon retiring on their pensions settled in Onba and became landowners and planters.

To pass briefly to its other ports or harbors, proceeding in an easterly direction by water, some 30 miles away, the bay of Guantanamo is reached. The mere hamlet facing the bay is named Caimanera, the port and terminus of the railway leading to the interior city of Guantanamo. The city is on an inland plateau, situated in the center of the richest sugar district in the world. The old time city is quaint and essentially Spanish. It is the supply center for the many sugar and coffee estates. It in turn receives their crops and ships them by rail to the port already de-

Many of the vast estates belong to foreigners. The Messrs. Brookes of Santiago own several of the largest sugar properties Mr. McKinley, a Scotchman, owns one; Dr. Wilson, an American, another; Mr. Ramsden a coffee estate. His father, F. W. Ramsden, a partner of Brookes & Co., is the British consul at Santiago. Mr. Robert Mason of the same firm was vice consul for the United States before the war. Many of the estates are owned by Spaniards, Cubans and Frenchmen. The rich alluvial soil of eastern Cuba has made it its chief sugar producing center in Cuba. The black soil has a varying depth of from 12 to 16 feet. Sugar cane has been growing there without replanting from 10 to 20 years, and two yearly crops of fine cane are raised with a minimum of labor and expense. Ooffee does very well. A plantation matures in six years. Once producing, it is a small gold mine to its owner. Cattle do well and have proved very profitable. The many possibilities with such a soil and climate do not need description. The province needs intelligent enterprise and push, and it will blossom with crops and prove one, of the richest and most productive spots on earth—a new Klondike.

The forests of eastern Cuba are almost unexplored. They cover its mountain sides and abound in the choices of tropical mahogany, hard cedar, lignum vitæ and dyewoods. The minerals of eastern Cuba deserve special mention. In the olden days much copper was got not far from the city of Santiago. That industry seems to have been abandoned for the more profitable one of iron ore and manganese iron, the first existing in practically inexhaustible quantities. The capital invested in the mines is largely American. Strangely enough, much of that manganese iron today will be found in the armor plating of our menof war now on the Cuban station.

But to return to the bay of Guantanamo and continue in one trip around the eastern end of the island. The extreme eastern point is Cape Maysi, the well known lighthouse station facing the Windward passage. The terracing of the island there is very noticeable. The land rises in steps or terraces from the sea until it reaches the foothills. Back of the latter are the lofty mountain ranges for which all eastern Cuba is noted.

Leaving Cape Maysi on our left, having rounded the point, we are on the northern coast of Cuba or that facing the United States. A number of minor harbors are passed and Baracoa is sighted. It is a large fruit exporting center and the outlet for that section of eastern Cuba. The sea outlet seems to be nature's only one so far. When American enterprise develops the interior by railways like Jamaica's, then productiveness will be quadrupled.

The next and last coast town in the district surrendered is Sagua de Tanamo, on the river and bay of that name. A line on the map from Sagua de Tanamo to Santiago de Cuba represents the western boundary of our newly acquired territory. Its area is over 10,000 square miles, with about 180,000 inhabitants.

A few words in conclusion on the climate of eastern Cuba. The old time Spanish discoverers divided climates in mountainous sections in the tropics into three classes. First, the tierra caliente. or hot lands—all lands on the coast and extending about 2,000 feet above the sea level; from 2,000 to 4,000 feet the tierra templada, or temperate climate: from 4,000 to 7,000 and 8,000 feet, the tierra fria, or cold climate. The coastal alimate produces all the fruits and vegetables of the tropics; the temperate climate, potatoes, corn and many vegetables, including valuable fruits and woods, not forgetting certain kinds of coffee and cane; the cold climate. woods and vegetables of northern climates, wild hogs and mountain game.

The coasts are hot and generally unhealthy. The acclimated natives stand it, having their bouts of malaria, tropical dysentery and other ailments. Occasionally yellow fever kills them. The temperate zone, with the hill climate of Cuba, is the place for all unacclimated whites. Acclimation, properly so called, is a matter of years. - New York Sun.

CERVERA'S MEN HAPPY.

They Expected Torture and Death, but Find Themselves In Clover.

The Spanish prisoners from the St. Louis found their reception at the prison camp on Seavey's island a surprise party of a very gratifying sort. They expected death. One of the petty officers among them told a sergeant of marines on guard at the camp the other morning that they thought they were being brought ashore to be shot.

They are comprehending their treatment slowly, but the kindness they are receiving is finally penetrating their Spanish minds, and they are marveling at it all. They never heard of such treatment of prisoners before. They had been told before the battle of Santiago that if they fell into the hands of the Americans torture and death would be their portion. Instead of that they have quarters on a beautiful island, where some people would be glad to camp ont for the summer for the benefit of the climate and pleasure of the view and surroundings.

They are fed on better victuals than they ever had in the Spanish navy. bave mattresses to sleep on, wrap themselves in new and white blankets and move without restriction around their camp. Homestead Was Ready For Business.

NO CHANCE FOR EAST LIVERPOOL

The Team Were Not Strong When They Faced Their Opponents, and the First Few Innings Showed the Uselessness of Carrying on the Struggle.

Saturday was a poor day in basebal for East Liverpool.

The home team met crushing defeat at Homestead, and were shutout for the first time this year. Only 30 men faced the Homestead pitchers. Cotter pitched the first six innings, and although the local players could do nothing with him he was replaced by Waddell, who had the East Liverpool players completely at his mercy striking out 10 men in the four innings.

Hugh McCarron was an easy mark for Homestead and they batted him all over the field, making hits whenever they so desired. The score:

f Big Orders For Crockery Come Soon.

Says the New York Crockery Journal: "It has been a very dull week in business circles. The weather has been warm and uncomfortable, very few buyers have been about, and the few who have been seen were not inclined to spend very much money. As a redeeming feature these same buyers agree that there will be a good trade in the fall and that they will require goods; but when urged to buy now say there is plenty of time. If everybody sings the same song there will be some disappointed buyers a little later on, for with the known shortage of steck in the country and with fewer import orders placed than ever before, where the goods are to come from to supply the good trade in the fall is a problem as yet unsolved."

Dr. Doty of New York Is Confident of Obtaining an Effective Serum.

Dr. Alvah H. Doty, health officer of the port of New York, has been investigating the theory of the specific organism of yellow fever, as developed by Professor Sanarelli, and has advanced as far as the South American bacteriologist. He expects to know from the result of certain experiments to be made in the next few weeks whether or not he and his assistants have produced a serum which will differ from that of Dr. Sanarelli only in strength. It will be superior in that respect, owing to the fact that it is newer than that made by the Italian. If Professor Sanarelli's serum is what he believes it to be, Dr. Doty will have a remedy for those who are afflicted with yellow fever and a preventive of the disease in those who are inoculated with it.

Dr. Doty has no doubt of the success of his coming experiments. It can readily be seen how vastly important to the welfare of the United States Sanarelli's discovery and the investigations of Dr.

Doty will prove. Dr. Doty said recently: "The statement made some time ago by Professor Sanarelli of Montevideo that he had discovered the specific organism of yellow fever has not occupied the public attention so fully in the United States as it has in South America and other countries which are constantly menaced by this disease. However, our present close relations with Cuba will probably bring to this subject the consideration which it certainly deserves. Although Sanarelli made the announcement of his discovery two years ago, his conclusions have not yet been generally accepted. While he has supporters, there are distinguished bacteriologists who will not admit that the specific organism has been found and assert that what Sanarelli has presented is simply a bacillus which has no special relation to yellow fever."-Chicago Tribune.

A Popular Chaplain.

The wounded men of the Seventy-first regiment say that the Rev. George R. Van De Water, their chaplain, went through the charge on San Juan without a scatch, and in the days after the battle labored, without sparing himself, in the hospitals with the wounded. His duty as a chaplain did not require him to charge with his regiment, but his presence in the fighting line was cheering to the men. Dr. Van De Water is a large man, with a very ruddy face and a hearty, cheerful address which has made him very popular with the soldiers. He is the rector of St. Andrew's church in Harlem.—New York Sun.

Where the Fight Was Won. Congress ought to have thanked "the men behind the guns." They did the work.—Nashville American.

The Man Who Cooks the Grub. We have read in song and story Of "the man behind the gun." He is given all the glory Of the battles that are won. They are filling up the papers With his apotheosis, And they tell about his capers While the shells above him hiss, But behind the grimy gunner, Steadfast through the wild hubbab, Stands a greater god of battles-Tis the man who cooks the grub.

When the sky is rent with thunder And the shell screams through the air, When some fort is rent asunder And destruction revels there, When the men in line go rushing On to glory or to woe With the maddened charges crushing Heroes who are lying low, There is one but for whose labors There could be no wild hubbub-And the greatest god of battles Is the man who cooks the grub.

What of ships with armor plating? What of castles on the heights? What of anxious captains waiting While the careful gunner sighte? What of all the long range rifles? What of men with valiant hearts? These were but impotent trifles, But inconsequential parts Of the whole, without the fellow Who must scour, scrape and scrub-For the greatest god of battles Is the man who cooks the grub. -Cleveland Leader.

CURE FOR YELLOW FEVER. OUR CEDED TERRITORY

Description of the Province of Eastern Cuba.

REGION CONTAINS GOOD HARBORS.

Soil Is Extremely Fertile, and There Are Many Partially Developed Mineral Resources-The Forests Are Almost Unexplored-Its Area Is Over 10,000 Square Miles, With About 18,000 Inhabitants. Harbor of Santiago Is the Key to the District at All Times-Climate of Eastern Cube.

The territory in eastern Cuba, recently surrendered by General Toral, embraces about one-third of that province, certainly its most valuable part, if one considers its marvelous fertility as a sugar and coffee district and its inexhaustible deposits of iron ore and manganese

The harbor of Santiago de Cuba is one of the largest in the West Indies. Its extent and beauty are too well known to require any new description. Its importance from a naval and military standpoint is of the highest order. Whoever holds that harbor commands eastern Cuba. The harbor is to eastern Cuba what the harbor of Havana is to western Cuba. It is the key to the district at all times. The Morro and La Socapa forts, if modernized, can make for any fleet the entrance to its harbor an impossibility. As a coaling station, as a refuge in the hurricane season, its perfectly landlocked harbor holds first rank. That old time city, properly fortified, could bid defiance to many a modern power. Its value and future will depend on who possesses it. If left in the hands of the laissez faire Cubans, it will be, as it was up to today, the land of manana, or of tomorrow. Its geographical position makes the harbor an absolute essential to the province for six or seven months of the year, when the soft and imperfect roads of the interior and coast sections are wholly or nearly impassable, owing to the copious tropical downpours.

The city of Santiago during the rains is almost cut off from the interior, save by a short and unimportant section of railway. It communicates by sea with neighboring ports on the island and ships to the outer world sugar, coffee, dye and other woods, iron ore, manganese and fruits. To that outer world she looks for her daily bread, her food stuffs, canned goods and the articles of everyday life and commerce. They come to her by water and have so come for nearly four centuries. Until railways develop the interior and communicate with other ports the highway to Santiago will still be by the open sea.

Santiago before the war had an estimated population of 71,000, of whom more than three-fourths were Spanish negroes and their descendants, the whole being the descendants of the African slaves sold in Cuba, the last of whom were freed about 12 years ago. The black element in eastern Cuba is in a vast majority. Some thousands of the whites hitherto have been Spanish officers and soldiers, naval officers and sailors, and the rest merchants and planters. While the majority are of Spanish or Cuban descent many are English, French, Germans and Americans. Many Spanish officers married Cuban wives, and many upon retiring on their pensions settled in Cuba and became landowners and planters.

To pase briefly to its other ports or harbors, proceeding in an easterly direction by water, some 30 miles away, the bay of Guantanamo is reached. The mere hamlet facing the bay is named Caimanera, the port and terminus of the railway leading to the interior city of Guantanamo. The city is on an inland plateau, situated in the center of the richest sugar district in the world. The old time city is quaint and essentially Spanish. It is the supply center for the many sugar and coffee estates. It in turn receives their crops and ships them by rail to the port already described.

Many of the vast estates belong to foreigners. The Messrs. Brookes of Santiago own several of the largest sugar properties. Mr. McKinley, a Scotchman, owns one; Dr. Wilson, an American, another; Mr. Ramsden a coffee estate. His father, F. W. Ramsden, a partner of Brookes & Co., is the British consul at Santiago. Mr. Robert Mason of the same firm was vice consul for the United States before the war. Many of the estates are owned by Spaniards, Cubans and Frenchmen.

The rich alluvial soil of eastern Cuba has made it its chief sugar producing center in Cuba. The black soil has a varying depth of from 12 to 16 feet. OUR PLAIN FIGHTERS

STEPHEN CRANE'S TRIBUTE TO THE REGULAR ARMY SOLDIERS.

Private Nolan, Who Knows How to Obey, Shoot and Go Ahead-Best Man on Two Feet In the World-Society Man Also a

Of course people all over the United States are dying to hear the names of the men who are conspicuous for bravery in Shafter's army, but as a matter of fact nobody with the army is particularly conspicuous for brayery. The bravery of an individual at Siboney is not a quality which causes him to be pointed out by his admiring fellows; he is, rather, submerged in the general mass. Now, cowardice—that would make a man conspicuous. He would then be pointed out often enough, but mere bravery—that is no distinction in the Fifth corps of the United States

The main fact that has developed in this Santiago campaign is that the soldier of the regular army is the best man standing on two feet on God's green earth. This fact is put forth with no pretense whatever of interesting the American public in it. The public doesn't seem to care very much for the regular soldier. The public wants to learn of the gallantry of Reginald Marmaduke Maurice Montmorenci Sturtevant and for goodness' sake how the poor old chappy endures that dreadful hard tack and bacon, whereas the name of the regular soldier is probably Michael Nolan and his life sized portrait was not in the papers in celebration of his enlistment.

Just plain Private Nolan, blast him he is of no consequence. He will get his name in the paper—oh, yes, when he is "killed." Or when he is "wounded." Or when he is "missing." If some good Spaniard shoots him through, he will achieve a temporary notoriety, figuring in the lists for one brief moment in which he will appear to the casual reader mainly as part of a total, a unit in the interesting sum of men slain.

In fact, the disposition to leave out entirely all lists of killed and wounded regulars is quite a rational one, since nobody cares to read them anyhow, and their omission would allow room for oil paintings of various really important persons, limned as they were in the very act of being at the front, proud young men riding upon horses, the horses being still in Tampa and the proud young men being at Santiago, but still proud young men riding upon

The ungodly Nolan, the sweating, swearing, overloaded, hungry, thirsty, sleepless Nolan, tearing his breeches on through the muddy fords, pursuing his way through the stiletto pointed thickets, climbing the fire crowned hill-Nolan gets shot—one Nolan of this regiment or that regiment, a private, great chums in time of peace with a man by the name of Hennessy, him that had a fight with Snyder. Nearest relative is a sister, chambermaid in a hotel in Omalooking glum, buried in taciturn sieight minutes; touching tribute to Nolan. There is a half bred fox terrier in barracks at Reno. Who the deuce gets the dog now? Must by rights go to Hennessy. Brief argument during which Corporal Jenkins interpolates the thoughtful remark that they haven't had anything to eat that day. End of Nolan.

The three shining points about the American regular are his illimitable patience under anything which he may be called upon to endure, his superlative marksmanship and his ability in action to go ahead and win without any example or leading or jawing or trumpeting whatsoever. He knows his business, he

He goes into battle as if he had been fighting every day for 300 years. If there is heavy firing ahead, he does not even ask a question about it. He doesn't even ask whether the Americans are winning or losing. He agitates himself over no extraneous points. He attends exclusively to himself. In the Turk or the Cossack this is a combination of fatalism and wooden headedness. It need not be said that these qualities are lacking in the regular.

After the battle at leisure—if he gets complete essay on practical field operations. He will be full of views about the management of such and such a brigade, the practice of this or that battery, and be admiring or scornful in regard to the operations on the right flank. He will be a tireless critic, bolstering his opinions with technical information procured heaven only knows where. In fact, he will alarm you. You may say, "This man gabbles too much to be a soldier."

Then suddenly the regular becomes impenetrable, enigmatic. It is a question of orders. When he hears the appointed voice raised in giving an order, he is a changed being. When an order comes, he has no more to say. He simply displays as fine a form of unquestioning obedience as there is to be seen anywhere. It is his sacred thing, his fetich, his religion. Nothing now can stop him but a bullet.

In speaking of Reginald Marmaduke Maurice Montmorenci Sturtevant and bis life sized portraits it must not be supposed that the unfortunate youth admires that sort of thing. He is a man and a soldier, although not so good either as man or soldier as Michael Nolan. But he is in this game honestly and sincerely. He is playing it gallant- Prospects Declared Much Brighter ly, and if from time to time he is made to look ridiculous it is not his fault at

We are as a people a great collection of the most arrant kids about anything that concerns war, and if we can get a chance to perform absurdly we usually seize it. It will probably take us three more months to learn that the society reporter, invaluable as he may be in times of peace, has no function during the blood and smoke of battle. I know of one newspaper whose continual cabled instructions to its men in Cuba were composed of interrogations as to the doings and appearance of various unhappy society young men who were decently and quietly doing their duty along o' Nolan and the others. The correspondents of this paper, being already impregnated with soldierly feeling, finally arose and said they'd be blamed if they would stand it.

And shame, deep shame, on those who, because somebody once led a cotil lon, can seem to forget Nolan-Private Nolan of the regulars—shot through. his half bred terrier being masterless at Reno and his sister being chambermaid in a hotel in Omaha; Nolan, no longer sweating, swearing, overloaded, hungry, thirsty, sleepless, but merely a corpse, attired in about 40 cents' worth of clothes. Here's three volleys and taps to one Nolan of this regiment or that regiment, and maybe some day, in a fairer, squarer land, he'll get his pioture in the paper too. -Stephen Crane in New York World.

General Shafter Reported on Their Wrongdoing In Cuba.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—In his report to the war department relative to conditions at Santiago, General Shafter has thrown some light upon the difficulties in which certain of the newspaper correspondents there have involved themselves. From his report it would appear that animated by an ambition to take a prominent part in the important events following each other in rapid succession at Santiago after the initiation of the negotiations for the surrender of the city, a few of the correspondents were guilty of grave breeches of military law, necessitating prompt corrective action by General Shafter.

Thus, for instance, one correspondent in his efforts to take part in the flagraising over city hall, resisted the military officers in the execution of their duty and even attempted a personal assault upon the commanding general. This made him subject to summary and severe punishment, even death, yet General Sharter, probably realizing that ignorance of military law was the explanation of the action, contented himself with expelling that correspondent from Cuba.

A more serious offense, from the fact that it might easily have led to rioting and loss of life, was that of three other correspondents, who, it appears by General Shafter's report, by circulating inflammatory posters, stirred up the town. They were likewise deported. General Shafter had declared that these correspondents may be immediately replaced by others from the same newspaper who will observe the rules of prudence.

OUR PLAIN FIGHTERS

Private Nolan, Who Knows How to Obey, Shoot and Go Ahead - Best Man on Two Feet In the World-Society Man Also a

Of course people all over the United States are dying to hear the names of the men who are conspicuous for bravery in Shafter's army, but as a matter of fact nobody with the army is particularly conspicuous for brayery. The bravery of an individual at Siboney is not a quality which causes him to be pointed out by his admiring fellows; he is, rather, submerged in the general mass. Now, cowardice—that would make a man conspicuous. He would then be pointed out often enough, but mere bravery—that is no distinction in the Fifth corps of the United States army.

The main fact that has developed in this Santiago campaign is that the soldier of the regular army is the best man standing on two feet on God's green earth. This fact is put forth with no pretense whatever of interesting the American public in it. The public doesn't seem to care very much for the regular soldier. The public wants to learn of the gallantry of Reginald Marmaduke Maurice Montmorenci Sturtevant and for goodness' sake how the poor old chappy endures that dreadful hard tack and bacon, whereas the name of the regular soldier is probably Michael Nolan and his life sized portrait was not in the papers in celebration of his enlistment.

Just plain Private Nolan, blast him -he is of no consequence. He will get his name in the paper—oh, yes, when he is "killed." Or when he is "wounded." Or when he is "missing." If some good Spaniard shoots him through, he will achieve a temporary notoriety, figuring in the lists for one brief moment in which he will appear to the casual reader mainly as part of a total, a unit in the interesting sum of men slain.

In fact, the disposition to leave out entirely all lists of killed and wounded regulars is quite a rational one, since nobody cares to read them anyhow, and their omission would allow room for oil paintings of various really important persons, limned as they were in the very act of being at the front, proud young men riding upon horses, the horses being still in Tampa and the proud young men being at Santiago, but still proud young men riding upon

SHAFTER IS AN ABLE GENERAL.

General Henry, an Old Indian Fighter, Wrote a Letter Highly Commending the Conduct of the Campaign-Said Miss Clara Barton and Mrs. Addison Porter Were Unselfish Women-General Shafter Answered Some of the Newspaper Attacks.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- With the close of last week the United States saw the end of the third month of the war with Spain, and the responsible officials, from the president down to the lowest employe who has had to do with shaping the course of events, feel nothing but satisfaction at the progress made. An army of 250,000 men has been mobilized, armed and equipped and much of it has seen service. The battles preceeding the capture of Santiago have been remarkable in many respects, and, in the opinion of military experts, have covered the United States army engaged with imperishable glory. Modern warfare of a type developed in these engagements was absolutely new and untried, not only to the United States army, but to the world. No such charge is recorded in history as that made upon the stone fort and the block. houses crowning the hills of El Caney.

Few officers in any army have had more experience in hard fighting, especially in rough country, than that of the Indian fighter, General Henry, so that some weight must be attached to the opinion of the merits of our officers and troops expressed by him in a personal letter addressed by him to Adjutant General Corbin dated in front of Santiago, July 12, in which he says

We are almost on top of them, in front of Wheeler being about 800 yards to them, but the country is rough, going down to a falling and ascending, all covered by their fire. The country all the way is the roughest I ever saw. You have to follow roads or trails, and come under heavy fire, their position commanding every approach. The work done by these troops since landing, their heroism and patience, under discomforts, heat and rain, calls for the highest praise; and the work accom-plished by Shafter, his pertinancity and go aheadtiveness' under adverse circumstances and discomforts, is a revelation to me. I doubt if there is another officer who would have 'gotten there'

"Our loss was most unfortunate, but from character of country could not have been avoided if we had to get there.' Last night the Eighth Ohio were almost drowned out and it pours today; that's the climate; and to get out of it, it would be cheaper to lose more by fighting, and success, than by sickness, which is sure to come by stay ing. We have about 30 cases of yellow fever and many of malaria, but the men are cheerful. General Duffield and Captain Wilcox have yellow fever; they say a mild form; gotten from sleeping in infected buildings, which are now to be burned. Miss Clara Barton and Mrs. Addison Porter rode to the front yesterday in an army wagon, over rough road and raining; they are unselfish women. Too much credit cannot be given the "heroism, pertinacity, pluck, patience and endurance of men' who have borne the brunt of this work."

In a very dignified manner General Shafter, in a report to the war department made public yesterday, took notice of some of the severely critical newsarticles that have appeared touching the condition of the troops before Santiage while they lay in the trenches. He admitted that there was a shortage of tobacco for a time, but shows conclusively that there was no lack of the necessartes of life and that the troops were adequately supplied with hard bread, bacon, sugar and coffee. Although this bill of fare is not as extensive as that afforded troops in garrison it embodied the main features of the army ration while on field service and removal from a base of supplies. As it has been alleged in some quarters that there was a lack of purpose in the battles incident to the advance upon Santiago it is interesting to note that while General Shafter admitted that for two days he was himseif lying ill owing to the great heat and exposure he asserted that the plans laid down in advence for the movement were carried out with absolute exact-

A General Order Lauding the Army For Their Great Fighting About Santiago.

Santiago, July 22 .- (Delayed.) -Following in part is Major General Shafter's order, just published:

"HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES TROOPS IN CUBA, SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 19 .- General order No. 20. The successful accomplishment of the campaign against Santiago, resulting in its downfall and the surrender of the Spanish forces and the capture of large amounts of military stores, together with the destruction of the entire Spanish fleet in the harbor which, upon the investment of the city, was forced to leave, is one of which this army can well be proud. The work you have accomplished may well appeal to the pride of your countrymen and has been rivaled upon few occasions in the world's history. Landing upon an unknown coast you faced dangers in disembarking and overcome obstacles that, even in looking back, seem insurmountable.

"Seizing, with the assistance of the navy, the towns of Baiquiri and Siboney, you pushed boldly forth, gal-lantly driving back the enemy's outpost in the engagement of La Quasina and completed the concentration of the enemy near Sevilla, within sight of the Spanish stronghold at Santiago de Cuba. The outlook from Sevilla was one that might well have appalled the stoutest heart. Behind you ran a narrow road, made well nigh impassable by rains, while to the front you looked out upon high foothills covered with a dense tropical growth, which could only be traversed by bridle paths terminating within range of the enemy's guns. "Nothing deterred, you responded eagerly to the order to close upon the foe, and, attacking at Caney and San Juan, drove him from work to work until he took refuge within his last and strongest entrenchments, immediately surrounding the city. "Despite the fierce glare of a southern sun and rains that fell in torrents you valiantly withstood his attempts to drive you from the position your valor had won. Holding in your vice-like grip the army opposed to you, after 17 days of battle and siege you were re-warded by the surrender of nearly 24,-000 prisoners, freeing completely the eastern part of the island from Spanish

"The death of 230 gallant soldiers and the wounding of 1,284 others shows but too plainly the fierce contest in which you were engaged. The few reported missing are undoubtedly among

"For those who have fallen in battle with you the commanding general sorrows, and with you will ever cherish their memory.

"By command of Major General Shaf-"E. J. McClernand, "Assistant Adjutant General."

There will be none but women lecturers and only women will be par-ticipants in the various programs.

HOBSON SAW LONG.

Again Met the Secretary of the Navy. His Plan to Raise Colon Considered Feasible.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- Lieutenant Hobson came over from New York Saturday night and had a long conference yesterday with Assistant Secretary Atlen, Captain Bradford and several other officers of the navy department regarding the raising of the Cristobal Colon. The lieutenant succeeded while in New York in arranging with the Merritt and Chapman Wrecking company for the execution of the plans he had prepared for saving the vessels. The wreckers have promised to get together the pontoons, air bags and compressed air apparatus which will be required to lift and right the vessel and expect to start this material for Santiago from New York on a fast vessel within three days. Lieutenant Hobson is confident that if the work can be undertaken before a cyclone sets in, it will result successfully.

Secretary Long said that the lieutenant's plan for raising the Colon seemed entirely feasible to him (Long).

Lieutenant Hobson returned to New York yesterday afternoon and will go to Santiago to supervise the wrecking

MILES LIKELY NEAR COAST OF PORTO RICO.

The War Department Hurrying Along the Rest of the Troops-General Brooke Soon to Sail.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—It was calculated at the war depertment last evening that General Miles had probably arrived at the point on the coast of Porto Rico selected as the rendezvous for all the vessels of the expedition, by that time. Whether or not he will undertake to make a landing in advance of the arrival of the whole expedition probably will depend entirely upon conditions as he finds them. Should there be no Spanish force, or at least an unconsiderable one on the coast, the troops will be landed to relieve them from the disastrous effects of being confined closely on shipboard under a tropical

The general has with him sufficient artillery to hold any position he may choose to occupy, supplemented as this artillery will be by the guns of his naval convoy. Meanwhile the department is making every effort to hurry along the remainder of the expedition. Some troops are now on their way from Tampa and Charleston and should reach Porto Rico by the middle of the week. Naval officials are assisting actively in getting the troops off and were engaged yesterday in sending the necessary orders to that end to the commanders of the naval auxiliary vessels which have been placed at the service of the war department.

In the course of a day or two the troops brought from Chickamauga by General Brooke will sail from Hampton Roads, where they have been arriving and are about ready for the transports. There is a probability that General Miles may be delayed for several days in his landing operations for lack of lighters, but several of these are now on their way and others will be hurried forward as rapidly as possible. However it may be as to his speedy landing on Porto Rico soil, it will be well along towards the end of this week before the active land campaign can be begun in Porto Rico.

MALARIAL FEVER PREVALENT.

Even Some of the Immunes Have Attacks of the Disease-Yields In Many Cases to Quinine Treatment-A United States Transport Left For Newport News With Sick and Wounded-Second Attack of Malaria Much Harder to Eradicate Than the First.

SANTIAGO DE OUBA, July 138, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 25.—The re-port published in the United States that there are 50 cases of yellow fever in the cavalry division proves, on investigation, to be unfounded. Captain Houze requests that the report be definitely denied.

The First, Third, Sixth and Ninth volunteers, the First and Tenth regular cavalry regiments and six companies of the Randolph light artillery are encamped about two miles northwest of El Caney, at the base of the mountains. The camp is apparently perfectly healthy as to location and has a good water sup-ply. The ground is well drained. Malarial fever is prevalent, but it always yields to quinine treatment in the course of four or five days. The fact that the immunes in the regiment have had this fever as freely as the other men shows that the illness is not yellow

There have been no fatalities from fever thus far, but so long as the men are exposed to the hot sun during the day, the incrasing rains and the heavy night dews malaria will increase and our men grow worse. A second attack is much more difficult to eradicate, especially in the case of men exposed to the presnt conditions. The cavalry is anxious to proceed to Porto Rico, but will be obliged to remain here until the Spanish prisoners of war have been transported to Spain, which, it is believed, will have been accomplished before the next month is well advanced. The army is mentally depressed by inactivity and the uncertainty as to its future movement, together with the increasing malarial

General Shafter's refusal to permit the entrance of armed Cubans into Santiago is an extremely wise measure, as in these excited days there might be trouble. Unarmed persons, however, are free to enter at all times.

As soon as the Spanish soldiers have embarked Cubans will be allowed to enter the city freely. The first embarkation is expected next Thursday, in accordance with a contract made between the United States government and the Spanish Trans-Atlantic company. The United States transport Santiago left this morning for Newport News with sick and wounded.

The steamer Jamaica arrival today with passengers from Jamaica and proceeded to Guantanamo with provisions for the United States fleet.

Today the Spaniards turned over their cavalry horses. Only 143 were surrendered. The others had been killed for food for the army.

THE HOSPITAL SHIP RELIEF.

Vessel Inspected and May Land Sick and Wounded Today.

NEW YORK, July 25 .- The hospital ship Relief was inspected by Health Officer Doty yesterday and granted pratique. The Relief will remain at anchor in the bay pending orders from the surgeon general. It is expected the hospital ship will proceed to the city today, when her sick and wounded will be removed to the hospital designated by the surgeon general.

All the patients had a very comfortable day and enjoyed a refreshing night's rest. After discharging her patients the Relief will take on a supply of coal and provisions and sail again for Santiago.

GIRL TO URGE PEACE.

liss Jessie Schley of Milwaukee Has Arc rived In Madrid.

MADRID, July 25 .- (Via Paris)-Miss Jessie Schley, delegate from the peace society of Paris, arrived at Madrid with the intention, it is asserted, of interviewing members of the cabines with a "humanitarian object."

Miss Jessie Schley, referred to in the foregoing dispatch, is the daughter of Charles Schley of Milwaukee, who is a cousin of Commodore Schley. She is a member of the Daughters of the Revolution. It was announced from Paris last week that she was about to start for Madrid to see the queen regent and Senor Senor Sagasta with a view of bringing about peace, and then to proseed to Washington to visit President McKinley in the same interest.

Last Friday the Milwaukee Sentinel announced that Miss Schley's father, on learning of his daughter's intention, had instructed her to return home immediately, disapproving her course and excusing it as a result of a warm, sympathetic nature and a special authusiasm for philanthropic and peace move-

GENERAL WADE IN COMMAND.

CHICKAMAUGA MILITARY PARK, Ga., July 25.—Although General James F. Wade assumed command at Camp Thomas Saturday, as the successor of General Brooke, he has not yet selected a location for his headquarters and is debating whether he will locate on the site General Brooke had his headquarters, near the battlefield station, or pitch his tent on Snodgrass hill. Battery A of Missouri, Battery A of Illinois, Battery B of Pennsylvania and the Twenty-seventh Indiana battery. These batteries broke camp about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, marching to Rossville, a distance of six miles, where they took trains for Newport News, via the Cincinnati Southern and Chesapeake and Ohio. Each of the four batteries had six guns, 100 horses and mules and from 140 to 175 officers and men.

DIVINE SERVICES HELD.

Some of the Sick Moved From the Leiter Hospital at Chickamauga.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK, July 25 .- The usual divine services by the chaptain and by the evangelists were conducted throughout the park yesterday.

One hundred and sixty-two patients belonging to the volunteer army were removed yesterday from Leiter hospital, at this place, to a special train and taken to McPherson Barracks hospital at Atlanta. Owing to the limited supply of surgeons and medical assistants at this point, it has been deemed best to send those of the sick who have so far recovered as to be able to be safely moved to other points where they can be cared for and at the same time make room in the Leiter hospital for the sick who are now in the division and regimental field nospitals.

The Knights of Pythias lodges in this city have joined in a movement to establish a hospital in this city for the care of sick members of the order who are in the vosinteer army at Chickamauga park.

CONDITION OF TROOPS.

General Shafter Reported an Improvement-Feeding Many Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, July 25. - General Shafter reported by cable yesterday that the condition of the troops at Santiago was rapidly improving and said he hoped in the course of a day or two to have them all located in comfortable camps, where they may rest and recuperate, and where the sick may recover. He is feeding 11,000 of the Spanish prisoners of war and although he has not yet been able to furnish them tents, yet this deficiency is being made good and meanwhile their present condition is no worse in this respect than was their condition before the surrender.

The general makes no mention of the alleged letter from Garcia to himself, nor does he speak of any friction between them, whence the department has come to doubt the authenticity of published stories on these subjects.

Probably Examined Sampson's Report.

Washington, July 25.—Secretary Long spent about two hours with the president yesterday afternoon, presumably in going over Admiral Sampson's report on the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago. The secretary, however, declined to say anything in regard to the matter, except that the report might be made public today.

BATTLE OF SAN JUAN.

STEPHEN CRANE'S VIVID STORY OF OUR INFANTRY'S GALLANTRY.

Victory Gained Not by the Officers, but by the Audacious Bravery of the Men. Misinformed as to Spanish Strength. Guerrillas Who Deserved Hanging.

The New York World's staff correspondent, Stephen Crane, writing under the date of July 4 from the front at Santiago, describes the battle of San Juan as follows:

The action at San Juan on July 1 was, particularly speaking, a soldiers' battle. It was like Inkerman, where the English fought half leaderless all day in a fog. Only the Cuban forest was worse than any fog.

A line of intrenched hills held by men armed with a weapon like the Mauser is not to be taken by a front attack of infantry unless the trenches have first been heavily shaken by artillery fire. Any theorist will say that it is impossible and prove it to be impossible. But it was done, and we owe the success to the splendid gallantry of the American private soldier.

As near as one can learn, headquarters expected little or no fighting on the 1st. Lawton's division was to go by the Caney road, chase the Spaniards out of that interesting village, and then, wheeling half to the left, march down to join the other divisions in some kind of attack on San Juan at daybreak on the 2d. But somebody had been entirely misinformed as to the strength and disposition of the Spanish forces at Caney, and instead of taking Lawton six minutes to capture the town it took him nearly all day, as well it might.

Lawton was well out toward Caney soon after daybreak, and by 7 o'clock we could hear the boom of Capron's guns in support of the infanery. The remaining divisions—Kent's and Wheeler's-were trudging slowly along the muddy trail through the forest.

When the first gun was fired, a grim murmur passed along the lean column. "They're off!" somebody said. Suddenly there was a roar of guns just ahead and a little to the left. This was Grimes' battery going into action on the hill which is called El Paso. Then, all in a moment, the quiet column moving forward was opposed by men carrying terrible burdens. Wounded Cubans were being carried to the rear. Most of them were horribly mangled.

The second brigade of dismounted American cavalry had been in support of the battery, its position being directly to the rear. Some Cubans had joined there. The Spanish shrapnel fired at the battery was often cut too long, and, passing over, burst amid the supports and the Cubans. The loss of the battery, the cavalry and the Cubans from this fire was 40 men in killed and wounded, the First regular cavalry probably suffering most grievously.

Presently there was a lull in the artillery fire, and down through spaces in the trees we could see the infantry still plodding with its pack steadily toward the front. In the meantime Lawton's division, some three miles away, was making plenty of noise. At about 2,500 yards in front of Grimes' position on El Paso arose the gentle green hills of San Juan. At the principal position of the enemy were a flag, a redoubt, a blockhouse and some sort of pagoda. At 11:25 our artillery reopened on the central blockhouse and intrenchments. The Spanish fire had been remarkably fine, but it was our turn now. Grimes had his ranges to a nicety. It must have been about 2 o'clock when the enemy's battery again retorted.

Then one saw a thin line of black figures moving across a field. They disappeared in the forest. The enemy was keeping up a terrific fire. Then suddenly somebody yelled, "By God, there go our boys up the hill!" There is many a good American who would give an arm to get the thrill of patriotic insanity that coursed through us when we heard that yell. Yes, they were going up the hill, up the hill. It was the best moment of anybody's life. An officer said to me afterward, "If we had been in that position and the Spaniards had come at us, we would have piled them up so high the last man couldn't have climbed over." But up went the regiments, with no music save that ceaseless, fierce crashing of rifles.

The road from El Paso to San Juan was now a terrible road. It should have a tragic fame like the sunken road at Waterloo. Why we did not later hang some of the gentry who contributed from the trees to the terror of this road is not known. The wounded were stringing back from the front, hundreds of them. Some walked unaided, an arm or a shoulder having been dressed at a field station. Others hobbled or clung to a friend's shoulders. Their slit trousers exposed red bandages. A few were shot horribly in the face and were led, bleeding and blind, by their mates. And then there were the slow pacing stretcher bearers with the dying or the insensible, the badly wounded, still figures with blood often drying brick color on their hot bandages.

Prostrate at the roadside were many others who had made their way thus far and were waiting for strength. Everywhere moved the sure handed, invaluable Red Cross men. Over this scene was a sort of haze of bullets

They were of two kinds. First, the Spanish lines were firing just a trifle high. Their bullets swept over our firing lines and poured into this devoted roadway, the single exit, even as it had been the single approach. The second fire was from guerrillas concealed in the trees and in the thickets along the trail. They had come in under the very wings of our strong advance, taken good positions on either side of the road and were peppering our line of communication whenever they got a good target, no matter apparently what the target might be

LESSON IN PISTOL PRACTICE.

Lieutenant of the Fourth Immunes Taught a Moonshiner How to Shoot.

Second Lieutenant Howard W. Throckmorton of Company K, Fourth regiment of immunes, now at Fredericksburg, Va., reached New York the other day with five military prisoners, mempers of the regiment, charged with various offenses. Lieutenant Throckmorton is a member of the Mining Exchange of New York. He visited the exchange in the afternoon and told a story about another lieutenant of the regiment who undertook to teach a lanky mountaineer recruit from the moonshining district of Tennessee how to shoot a revolver.

tell the recruit how to handle the weapon, illustrating with much elaboration the pistol aimed. The man seemed very clumsy, but very willing to learn. He listened to the lieutenant's instructions with the half doubtful remark, "Is this 50-inch covers, real value $1.25, correct?" Bang, bang, bang, bang, bang, went the revolver five times, and the bullets bumped against each other right in the center of the bullseye, 100 yards distant. The recruit grinned as he again asked if that was the way to shoot. As for the lieutenant, he decided that Tennessee moonshiners did not need much instruction in pistol practice. - Exchange.

IN THE SANTIAGO TRENCHES

Cool Daring of an American Soldier That Surprised a French Officer.

Daniel Davis of the Sixth United States infantry is at his home in Catasauqua, Pa., on a five days' furlough. He participated in the fighting before Santiago and, among other stories, relates this instance of the cool daring of a member of his regiment.

"I was lying in one of the trenches," he said. "About eight feet to my left was the French military attache, occupying a somewhat exposed position. Between the attache and me was a member of my company. Disdaining to lie down and hungry for a smoke, he reached into his pocket and took out a clay pipe and some tobacco. He had just lighted the pipe and taken a few whiffs and stripes, $5 values, sale price when a Mauser bullet clipped the stem close to his mouth. Looking down and seeing that the bowl was not broken and that sufficient of the stem remained to afford a purchase for his lips, he picked up the pipe, filled it with tobacco again. lit it and calmly proceeded to smoke. The French officer's eyes gleamed with admiration as he exclaimed:

" 'What stuff are you Americans made of anyway?' "

Cuban's Noble Errand.

Lieutenant Brunet, formerly of Maceo's staff and a well known Cuban patriot, recently passed through Jacksonville, Fla., on his way north on a most generous errand, and that is to deliver a revolver that formerly belonged to Colonel Osgood of Chicago, an American hero who perished in Cuba, to his relatives. Osgood's relatives have never received any memento of him, and only the word of those who were fighting with him was received to denote his death. Lieutenant Brunet sailed from Cuba in a ten foot boat to Jamaica and thence in a schooner to the Florida coast. He landed at Miami the other morning. - Chicago Tribune.

MRS. MAXWELL'S CASE

Testimony In a Divorce Action Was Heard.

HER

HUSBAND'S REVOLVER

Was Among the Causes Which Brought About the Action—Temperance Meetings Attract Crowds—All the News of Wellsville.

Judge Smith on Saturday afternoon heard testimony in the Maxwell divorce action.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Shaub, Mrs. Rosenberg, Mrs. William Makin and Mrs. Maxwell gave evidence. Maxwell, who is now a policeman in Cleveland, was not present.

The testimony served to show that Maxwell was jealous, and had a revolver which he threatened to use. There was anything but peace and quiet in the family, and at length Mrs. Maxwell left her husband. She also charged that he refused to support her. The couple were married in 1856.

The case will be continued Tuesday afternoon by Judge Smith.

The Temperance Meetings.

Reverend George W. Vibbert is giving the town a thorough shaking up on the temperance question.

Each evening an open air meeting is held at which some new feature of the question is presented. On Saturday evening the meeting was held opposite the city building instead of in the public square.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the corner of Third and Main a meeting was held. This place the reverend gentleman denominated the "Entrance to hell's half-acre." He said, with one exception, our Tophet was the toughest place he had ever been in.

Horse Ran Away.

Yesterday afternoon several people went to the vicinity of Spring Grove for a day in the woods. In the afternoon one-half of the company were driven down to the street car line and when returning the horse ran off and was with difficulty stopped before any serious damage was done. The driver was so frightened that he declared his intention to lead the horse into town.

Assaulted a Boy.

Saturday night a young man named Jones was assaulted near Twelfth street by a crowd of men and women. He was not badly hurt but the matter was reported to the police and is now being investigated.

A number of stories are in circulation concerning the affair.

Crescents Won

The Crescents won a game Saturday afternoon from a Liverpool team under the name of the Eclipse. The score was 8 to 4.

The visitors did not score until the eighth when they got their four runs on an error and three hits. A large crowd was present.

Moved Her Effects.

Some time ago J. G. Elliott got judgment against Mrs. William Coyle for forcible detention of property, but the woman refused to move. Saturday afternoon she was absent from home, and her effects were put on the pavement.

The house is now empty.

The News of Wellsville.

Mrs. Susanna Poe left today for a visit with friends in Steubenville.

Mrs. Ben Williamson, of Congo, has been suffering the past week with an acute attack of nervous prostration. She is somewhat improved at present.

A little child of Mr. Bagley, who resides in First street, died on Sabbath morning after a short illness. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock today.

Mrs. Mary S. Whitlock, who has been visiting the family of C. R. Arnold, left today for her home in Andover, Mass.

T. P. Dolan, who was injured on the railroad about a month ago, has so far recovered after treatment at a Pittsburg hospital that he is able to return to his former home. He expects to return to his work soon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Byrne will spend the next two weeks in Spring Grove. C. V. Shoub went to Toronto on business today.

John Patterson, William Armstrong, Jack Patterson, Fred Stoffel, Jr., Martin Welch and Henry Patterson were the members of the fishing club who left town on the 5th of July. They camped on Beaver creek. They returned home Saturday.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE.

THE stock gamblers of Europe are probably responsible for all these peace rumors. They are a shrewd lot of once and late gamesters, and know well the art of Price, accompanied by three men, went turning speculation into geld.

THE war is bringing out some interesting facts, and none are more interesting than those which deal with the opinions of Europe. Military and naval authorities across the water are still wondering at the signal success of the Santiago campaign.

THE people who continue to growl because the war is not being carried on as they desire, and who make mountains of mole hills, will learn if the contest is to continue any length of time that this government is doing its best, and that is doubtless better than could be done by any other nation on earth.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

The determination of the health authorities to protest against further pollution of the Ohio river is commendaable in the extreme, and it is hoped Doctor Ogden and every other official on the stream will waste no time. There is no reason why people living below the iron manufacturing district should be compelled to drink what is little better than rank poison, if there is any law or regulation to prevent it.

WHEN PEACE IS DUE.

This government did not declare war against Spain for the purpose of displaying its military powers nor yet to gather up all the island possessions of its enemy, but now that war is in progress and the United States has been put to great expense there is no reason why operations should not be rapidly pushed until Spain can do nothing but come to our terms. The occupation of the Philippines and Porto Rico does not of necessity mean the extension of empire, but it is sure that when strong American forces hold these places, peace can only be obtained when Uncle Sam dictates the particulars. No patriotic American wants the war extended one day beyond the limit, but that limit means such indemnity as we may desire and freedom for Cuba.

AN OLD GAME.

If the politicians who lead the Democrats of the Eighteenth district desire to elect their candidate they must use means other than the repeated assertion that there is "feeling" against Hon. R. W. Tayler.

The people of the district are intelligent. They want an issue on which the battle can be fought. The Republican platform is plain, and the people understand it. The Democrats must make their cause equally clear if they hope for success. The mere statement in a newspaper that Mr. Tayler is not popular will have little influence. It may give the editor who wrote it some feeling of satisfaction, but so far as aiding in the gathering of votes for his candidate it is worthless. He can write that sert of stuff until the cows come home, and be very much like the man who would lift himself by his bootstraps.

Until He Learned That It Was Not Best to Open the New Grave-The Smell Was Most Pronounced Before the Cause Was

For several days the office force at the Brunt Porcelain works have been smelling smells that almost compelled them to lock up the plant and go home. When the dead fish began to pass it was suggested that cause could be found there, but the smell seemed too annoying to come even from that source.

At length it was decided to investigate, and parties living in that section joined heartily in the search. Then the cause was found in a sewer where was the putrifying carcass of a dog. The animal had been dead a long time. The body was removed at once, and those who suffered are now hoping the name of the individual who threw it in the sewer will be found. The story has a

Several days ago Robert Price lost his dog which was aged 17 years. He spent much time hunting the animal but to no avail and it was finally found by Sanitary Officer Burgess in the sewer in Market street. He notified Price at Saturday night to the spot for the purpose of burying the animal. It was carefully wrapped up in carpet and carried to the river

The mysterious actions of the men were watched by a woman on a boat who was of the opinion a murder had been committed and the body was interred along the river bank. She did not tell her story until yesterday afternoon when a small boy appeared at the office of the mayor and securing Officer White took him told the spot. She then how the men had conversed in low tones and by the light of the lantern she had seen them carry something and then bury it. An examination was made of the grave, but Officer White decided to do nothing until he laid the case before Chief Johnson.

He carried the story all the day, but at the first opportunity told Chief Johnson and related all the facts to him, but the chief had been informed of the burial of the dog or the officers might have dug up the remains of the poor old animal, believing them to be that of a murdered

The Diamond pump stopped running yesterday afternoon, and needs a thorough overhauling.

It is estimated that at least 1,000 people went thirsty yesterday, and, in the opinion of a great many people, it is time the city took charge of the pump and sees that it is kept running. It is, in their opinion, a public institution, and now that it needs repairing council should see that the work is done as soon as possible. The pump fund is exhausted and there is no way to keep it going unless the city pays the expenses. The matter will be brought up in council tomorrow evening and thoroughly discussed.

One Report Says the Boys Will Go to North Carolina.

A special from Tampa says:

"A high official was asked today what his idea was about the apparent change in the orders moving troops from this place. He said that he had it from headquarters that there was to be a considerable change in many ways. To begin with, the army was to be moved from Santiago as quickly as possible; they are to go to the mountains of North Carolina, where the yellow fever will be stamped out entirely. This is to be done in about a month, and the men given a good rest. Then they are to fall on Porto Rico or Havana, whichever place may need them."

A man giving the name of Cain entered a Sixth street restaurant about 3 c'clock yesterday morning. He was bleeding from a wound in his head, and his face could hardly be seen on account of blood. Those about the place washed his face and head. He ate a lunch and then went to the office of Doctor Hobbs. Cain said he was about to enter a house beyond the West End trestle when a woman appeared at a window and discharged a revolver. The ball struck Cain in the Pittsburg. head, making a bad scalp wound. The physician closed the wound with several stitches and Cain went away.

This morning Officer McMillan was seen but he knew nothing of the trouble. He heard of the trouble yesterday and immediately investigated the matter. Those living in that district say the only noise they heard Saturday from Toronto this morning. night was some loud talking on the bridge and nothing more.

The shooting is surrounded by mystery and no one is able to tell anything about it.

SIX MEN IN A SALOON

Policemen Raided the Place Yesterday.

KOUNTZ WILL STAND TRIAL

He Wanted the Case to Go to Court, But Mayor Bough Showed That It Must Be Settled Here-Plumbers Who Forgot the Law Suffer.

Officers Mahony, McMillan and White yesterday morning at 10 o'clock surrounded the saloon owned by John Kountz, in the Midway, and shortly afterward placed the proprietor, William Wyant, Hugh George, Edward McCullough, James McCaugheney and Benjamin Wyand under arrest.

Officers for several days past have been watching the place, but had no opportunity to make an arrest until yesterday morning. When White entered the place four men were captured upstairs, and Kountz and another visitor were caught in the bar. The officer read the warrant to Kountz over the bar, and in going upstairs told all the visitors to appear before the mayor this morning. When the officers came out of the saloon it was just 10:30 o'clock.

All the men were in the mayor's office this morning including the officers, Mahony being the only one absent. Kountz became bold, and while the mayor read the charge of keeping a saloon open on Sunday and permitting people to loaf in the same he pleaded not guilty and said he would carry it to court. Everybody in the room was surprised at the action, and Bough told him the case must be settled right here as he had been arrested under an ordinance.

William Wyand was the first one to whom a charge of loitering in a saloon was read. He pleaded guilty, and pulling $10 out of his pocket, paid his fine of $5 and costs and did not say a word. Mayor Bough tried to find what he got in the place, but he said he was in only about five minutes before the officers

Hugh George was next. He was arrested on the same charge. He pleaded committed to jail until paid, Later on an order was given for the money and he was released.

Edward McCullough had the same charge against him. He paid $5 and costs and went away happy.

Benjamin Wyand this afternoon was fined $5.

Friday afternoon Officers McMillan and Grim arrested Patrick McCullough and William Green in Fourth street. Both were charged with disorderly conduct. Late Saturday afternoon both men appeared and McCullough was fined $6.60, which he paid. Green pleaded not guilty and will be given trial tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Friday evening Clerk J. W. Gipner, of the water works, upon information given by Superintendent Morley, made information against W. H. McCormick of Wellsville, Ben Davidson and John E. Porter, of this city. McCormick was charged with not filing a plumbers' bond and violating the water works rules. Davidson was charged the same, and Poter with violation of rules. McCormick was fined $5.60 Saturday afternoon, but the other men had not appeared at a late hour this afternoon.

All the men are plumbers and are the first to be arrested on such a charge within two years.

Local Officials Want No More Dead Fish

POLLUTING THE WATER SUPPLY

Doctor Ogden Will Communicate With Other Health Officers Along the River and Will Push the Matter-Different Causes Are Given.

The fact that the river has for several days been filled with dead fish has aroused the health authorities, and if necessary the matter will be taken to the government authorities.

The water department, because of the lack of storage capacity, has been unable to do any thing but notify the health department of the unusual condition. Doctor Ogden realizes that Ohio river water is never the best for drinking purposes, but with the quantity of rotting animal matter it now contains every consumer should boil it before drinking.

Doctor Ogden has decided to push the matter at once. He will communicate with health officers at points down the river, and the matter will be taken to the proper authorities in Ohio, and if relief cannot be found there the doctor will take it to the federal authorities. He has reason to believe they will act quickly and the nuisance will end with this year.

A Pittsburg paper of yesterday had this to say about the dead fish:

"Camping parties tenting across the Youghiogheny river report that the fish in the stream are dying as a result of refuse acids being emptied by a tannery. Similar reports came from parties camping along the Monongahela and Ohio river. Fish Warden Sharp will be asked to make an investigation of the matter at once. The river water is said to have been foul the last few days as far south as Davis island dam."

That view is not taken here. The authorities have passed through similar experiences and feel confident the iron mills are responsible.

An enormous number of dead fish passed down the river Saturday, but at midnight the rush was over. Thousands were piled at the head of the island above the city, and others were caught by barges. The stench arising from them was indescribable, and caused much annoyance.

STRUCK HIS WIFE.

Her Face Discolored by

Her Angry Husband.

An individual who lives in the lower part of town and evidently believes he is a man, became involved in a quarrel with his wife yesterday and struck her.

The poor woman was almost felled by the force of the blow, and soon afterward her face was black where the husband's fist had landed.

Neighbors who heard of the affair discussed the advisability of having the man arrested, but it was decided to take no action at present. If, however, his brutal instincts get the better of him again he will be taken before Mayor Bough to explain.

Change In Boats.

The new steamer Avalon owned by Captain Green, of the Bedford, is about completed and will make its first trip, it is thought, within the next few weeks.

AFTER THE BALL HIT HIM.

Sensation of Lieutenant W. H. Wassell, Who Was Shot at El Caney.

First Lieutenant W. H. Wassell, Twenty-second United States infantry, writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Wassell of Pittsburg, says: "I was shot about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 1 while storming El Caney, northeast of Santiago. I was looking through fieldglasses at the time, and the ball cut through the outer part of the little finger of the left hand, joint next to the hand, then through the palm of my hand, out just below the index finger, then in the cheek about half an inch from the left corner of my mouth, back through my mouth, taking several back teeth, downward through my neck, still downward and toward my spine, coming out about halfway down my back and about four inches from my spine. I haven't a bone broken. I can swallow, and, thank God, I am strong, and, aside from possible scar, I will be no worse off.

"I will never forget the sensation of being shot. We had been under fire all day-the hottest rain of bullets that men ever went up against. The Spaniards were all intrenched. They that us from behind their earthworks, blockhouses, trees and church towers. All at once it seemed as if I was lifted up from the ground and whirled round and round, oh, so terribly fast! I never lost consciousness during the sensation. I felt myself going, but I seemed to realize that if I let myself go it would be all over, so I took a brace and after what seemed an age of this awful whirling I was dropped to the ground. Then it seemed as if no one would notice that I had been hit.

"It seemed an age before I heard a man swear and say, 'They have hit Lieutenant Wassel!' He picked me up to carry me down behind the crest of the hill, and what a storm of bullets the poor fellow got as he raised me. One of the men dressed me as well as he could with my first aid bandages, and I lay under a tree until about 6 o'clock. About that time some of the Spaniards began a riot on the other side of me and for a little while the bullets from friend and foe whirled over me and struck near me. About sundown, the firing having ceased, I was carried about a mile to the bridge hospital. Here I was dressed. The doctors were worked to death and did their best."-Providence Journal.

CAUGHT CERVERA FLEEING.

Newark Lad Tells How He Saw the Spanish Fleet Emerge From Santiago.

Joseph T. Gaskin, signal boy on the Iowa, says he was the first to discover the Spanish fleet making its way out of Santiago harbor. Gaskin's home is in Warren street, Newark. In a letter to his sister, Mrs. M. H. Smith, who lives at 102 Littleton avenue, young Gaskin says that at 8 a. m. he went on deck as usual for signal watch. He had noticed suspicious indications the previous day and resolved to keep a close watch. An hour afterward he reported that smoke he had observed in the harbor the day previous had moved nearer the entrance, and at 9:15 he reported that the smoke was "moving more so."

"Then," says Gaskin, "of my own accord I bent on the signal 2-5-0, which means 'the enemy's ships escaping,' and laid it on the bridge ready to hoist. At 9:30, just as the navigator was taking the deck, I reported a large, black ship, with two stacks and two military masts in the entrance. The navigator, without looking, said, 'Bend on the emergency signal.' With that I ran it up to the yardarm. He said: 'Sound the alarm, bugler! Sound general quarters!' I was waiting to sound the alarm, and in two minutes the ship was reported ready for action.

"At 9:35 the Vizcaya opened fire and was answered from our ship with a 13 inch gun. Then there came a stream of fire from the forts and ships, and all directed at the Iowa, but she seemed to be charmed, for not a shell struck her. Captain Evans sang out ahead, 'Full speed both engines!' and soon we were closing up on the leader of the dagoes.' Gaskin here recites the story of the fight as seen from the deck of the Iowa. He is 21 years old, was born in Newark and has served in the navy two years. -New York Tribune.

A Soldier's Spiral Wound.

The doctors at the division hospital in Tampa are fairly mystified at the extraordinary nature of some wounds inflicted by the Mauser rifle bullets. In the case of one man the bullet penetrated his belt plate, ran around his body under the skin of the abdomen, took a downward course through the muscles of the right leg and came out at the back of the calf. The bullet was found in the man's clothing, slightly bent .-Cincinnati Enquirer.

SHUT OUT OUR BOYS

Homestead Was Ready For Business.

NO CHANCE FOR EAST LIVERPOOL

The Team Were Not Strong When They Faced Their Opponents, and the First Few Innings Showed the Uselessness of Carrying on the Struggle.

Saturday was a poor day in basebal for East Liverpool.

The home team met crushing defeat at Homestead, and were shutout for the first time this year. Only 30 men faced the Homestead pitchers. Cotter pitched the first six innings, and although the local players could do nothing with him he was replaced by Waddell, who had the East Liverpool players completely at his mercy striking out 10 men in the four innings.

Hugh McCarron was an easy mark for Homestead and they batted him all over the field, making hits whenever they so desired. The score:

SOME ONE WILL BE SHORT

If Big Orders For Crockery Come Soon.

Says the New York Crockery Journal: "It has been a very dull week in business circles. The weather has been warm and uncomfortable, very few buyers have been about, and the few who have been seen were not inclined to spend very much money. As a redeeming feature these same buyers agree that there will be a good trade in the fall and that they will require goods; plenty of time. If everybody sings the same song there will be some disappointed buyers a little later on, for with the known shortage of steck in the country and with fewer import orders placed than ever before, where the goods are to come from to supply the good trade in the fall is a problem as yet unsolved."

CURE FOR YELLOW FEVER.

Dr. Doty of New York Is Confident of Obtaining an Effective Serum.

Dr. Alvah H. Doty, health officer of the port of New York, has been investigating the theory of the specific organism of yellow fever, as developed by Professor Sanarelli, and has advanced as far as the South American bacteriologist. He expects to know from the result of certain experiments to be made in the next few weeks whether or not he and his assistants have produced a serum which will differ from that of Dr. Sanarelli only in strength. It will be superior in that respect, owing to the fact that it is newer than that made by the Italian. If Professor Sanarelli's serum is what he believes it to be, Dr. Doty will have a remedy for those who are afflicted with yellow fever and a preventive of the disease in those who are inoculated with it.

Dr. Doty has no doubt of the success of his coming experiments. It can readily be seen how vastly important to the welfare of the United States Sanarelli's discovery and the investigations of Dr. Doty will prove. Dr. Doty said recently:

"The statement made some time ago by Professor Sanarelli of Montevideo that he had discovered the specific organism of yellow fever has not occupied the public attention so fully in the United States as it has in South America and other countries which are constantly menaced by this disease. However, our present close relations with Cuba will probably bring to this subject the consideration which it certainly deserves. Although Sanarelli made the announcement of his discovery two years ago, his conclusions have not yet been generally accepted. While he has supporters, there are distinguished bacteriologists who will not admit that the specific organism has been found and assert that what Sanarelli has presented is simply a bacillus which has no special relation to yellow fever."-Chicago Tribune.

A Popular Chaplain.

The wounded men of the Seventy-first regiment say that the Rev. George R. Van De Water, their chaplain, went through the charge on San Juan without a scatch, and in the days after the battle labored, without sparing himself, in the hospitals with the wounded. His duty as a chaplain did not require him to charge with his regiment, but his presence in the fighting line was cheering to the men. Dr. Van De Water is a large man, with a very ruddy face and a hearty, cheerful address which has made him very popular with the soldiers. He is the rector of St. Andrew's church in Harlem.-New York Sun.

Where the Fight Was Won.

Congress ought to have thanked "the men behind the guns." They did the work.—Nashville American.

The Man Who Cooks the Grub. We have read in song and story Of "the man behind the gun." He is given all the glory Of the battles that are won. They are filling up the papers With his apotheosis, And they tell about his capers While the shells above him hiss, But behind the grimy gunner, Steadfast through the wild hubbub, Stands a greater god of battles Tis the man who cooks the grub.

When the sky is rent with thunder And the shell screams through the air, When some fort is rent asunder And destruction revels there, When the men in line go rushing On to glory or to woe With the maddened charges crushing Heroes who are lying low, There is one but for whose labors There could be no wild hubbub And the greatest god of battles

What of ships with armor plating? What of castles on the heights? What of anxions captains waiting While the careful gunner sights! What of all the long range rifles? What of men with valiant hearts? These were but impotent trifles, But inconsequential parts
Of the whole, without the fellow Who must scour, scrape and scrub-For the greatest god of battles Is the man who cooks the grub

OUR CEDED TERRITORY.

Description of the Province of Eastern Cuba.

REGION CONTAINS GOOD HARBORS.

Soil Is Extremely Fertile, and There Are Many Partially Developed Mineral Resources—The Forests Are Almost Unexplored-Its Area Is Over 10,000 Square Miles, With About 18,000 Inhabitants. Harbor of Santiago Is the Key to the District at All Times-Climate of Eastern Cuba.

The territory in eastern Cuba, recently surrendered by General Toral, embraces about one-third of that province, certainly its most valuable part, if one considers its marvelous fertility as a sugar and coffee district and its inexhaustible deposits of iron ore and manganese iron.

The harbor of Santiago de Cuba is one of the largest in the West Indies. Its extent and beauty are too well known to require any new description. Its importance from a naval and military standpoint is of the highest order. Whoever holds that harbor commands eastern Cuba. The harbor is to eastern Cuba what the harbor of Havana is to western Cuba. It is the key to the district at all times. The Morro and La Socapa forts, if modernized, can make for any fleet the entrance to its harbor an impossibility. As a coaling station, as a refuge in the hurricane season, its perfectly landlocked harbor holds first rank. That old time city, properly fortified, could bid defiance to many a modern power. Its value and future will depend on who possesses it. If left in the hands of the laissez faire Cubans, it will be, as it was up to today. the land of manana, or of tomorrow. Its geographical position makes the harbor an absolute essential to the province for six or seven months of the year, when the soft and imperfect roads of the interior and coast sections are wholly or nearly impassable, owing to the copious tropical downpours.

The city of Santiago during the rains is almost cut off from the interior, save by a short and unimportant section of railway. It communicates by sea with neighboring ports on the island and ships to the outer world sugar, coffee, dye and other woods, iron ore, manganese and fruits. To that outer world she looks for her daily bread, her food stuffs, canned goods and the articles of everyday life and commerce. They come to her by water and have so come for nearly four centuries. Until railways develop the interior and communicate with other ports the highway to Santiago will still be by the open sea.

Santiago before the war had an estimated population of 71,000, of whom more than three-fourths were Spanish negroes and their descendants, the whole being the descendants of the African slaves sold in Cuba, the last of whom were freed about 12 years ago. The black element in eastern Cuba is in a vast majority. Some thousands of the whites hitherto have been Spanish officers and soldiers, naval officers and sailors, and the rest merchants and planters. While the majority are of Spanish or Cuban descent many are English, French, Germans and Americans. Many Spanish officers married Cuban wives, and many upon retiring on their pensions settled in Cuba and became landowners and planters. To pass briefly to its other ports or harbors, proceeding in an easterly direction by water, some 30 miles away, the bay of Guantanamo is reached. The mere hamlet facing the bay is named Caimanera, the port and terminus of the railway leading to the interior city of Guantanamo. The city is on an inland plateau, situated in the center of the richest sugar district in the world. The old time city is quaint and essentially Spanish. It is the supply center for the many sugar and coffee estates. It in turn receives their crops and ships them by rail to the port already de-

Many of the vast estates belong to foreigners. The Messrs. Brookes of Santiago own several of the largest sugar properties. Mr. McKinley, a Scotchman, owns one; Dr. Wilson, an American, another; Mr. Ramsden a coffee estate. His father, F. W. Ramsden, a partner of Brookes & Co., is the British consul at Santiago. Mr. Robert Mason of the same firm was vice consul for the United States before the war. Many of the estates are owned by Spaniards, Cubans and Frenchmen.

The rich alluvial soil of eastern Cuba has made it its chief sugar producing center in Cuba. The black soil has a varying depth of from 12 to 16 feet. Sugar cane has been growing there without replanting from 10 to 20 years, and two yearly crops of fine cane are raised with a minimum of labor and expense. Ooffee does very well. A plantation matures in six years. Once producing, it is a small gold mine to its owner. Cattle do well and have proved very profitable. The many possibilities with such a soil and climate do not need description. The province needs intelligent enterprise and push, and it will blossom with crops and prove one, of the richest and most productive spots on earth-a new Klondike.

The forests of eastern Cuba are almost unexplored. They cover its mountain sides and abound in the choices of tropical mahogany, hard cedar, lignum vitæ and dyewoods. The minerals of eastern Cuba deserve special mention. In the olden days much copper was got not far from the city of Santiago. That industry seems to have been abandoned for the more profitable one of iron ore and manganese iron, the first existing in practically inexhaustible quantities. The capital invested in the mines is largely American. Strangely enough, much of that manganese iron today will be found in the armor plating of our menof-war now on the Cuban station.

But to return to the bay of Guantanamo and continue in one trip around the eastern end of the island. The extreme eastern point is Cape Maysi, the well known lighthouse station facing the Windward passage. The terracing of the island there is very noticeable. The land rises in steps or terraces from the sea until it reaches the foothills. Back of the latter are the lofty mountain ranges for which all eastern Cuba is noted.

Leaving Cape Maysi on our left, having rounded the point, we are on the northern coast of Cuba or that facing the United States. A number of minor harbors are passed and Baracoa is sighted. It is a large fruit exporting center and the outlet for that section of eastern Cuba. The sea outlet seems to be nature's only one so far. When American enterprise develops the interior by railways like Jamaica's, then productiveness will be quadrupled.

The next and last coast town in the district surrendered is Sagua de Tanamo, on the river and bay of that name. A line on the map from Sagua de Tanamo to Santiago de Cuba represents the western boundary of our newly acquired territory. Its area is over 10,000 square miles, with about 130,000 inhabitants.

A few words in conclusion on the climate of eastern Cuba. The old time Spanish discoverers divided climates in mountainous sections in the tropics into three classes. First, the tierra caliente, or hot lands-all lands on the coast and extending about 2,000 feet above the sea level; from 2,000 to 4,000 feet the tierra templada, or temperate climate: from 4,000 to 7,000 and 8,000 feet, the tierra fria, or cold climate. The coastal alimate produces all the fruits and vegetables of the tropics; the temperate climate, potatoes, corn and many vegetables, including valuable fruits and woods, not forgetting certain kinds of coffee and cane; the cold climate, woods and vegetables of northern climates, wild hogs and mountain game.

The coasts are hot and generally unhealthy. The acclimated natives stand it, having their bouts of malaria, tropical dysentery and other ailments. Occasionally yellow fever kills them. The temperate zone, with the hill climate of Cuba, is the place for all unacclimated whites. Acclimation, properly so called, is a matter of years. - New York Sun.

CERVERA'S MEN HAPPY.

They Expected Torture and Death, but Find Themselves In Clover.

The Spanish prisoners from the St. Louis found their reception at the prison camp on Seavey's island a surprise party of a very gratifying sort. They expected death. One of the petty officers among them told a sergeant of marines on guard at the camp the other morning that they thought they were being brought ashore to be shot.

They are comprehending their treatment slowly, but the kindness they are receiving is finally penetrating their Spanish minds, and they are marveling at it all. They never heard of such treatment of prisoners before. They had been told before the battle of Santiago that if they fell into the hands of the Americans torture and death would be their portion. Instead of that they have quarters on a beautiful island, where some people would be glad to camp out for the summer for the benefit of the climate and pleasure of the view and surroundings.

They are fed on better victuals than they ever had in the Spanish navy, have mattresses to sleep on, wrap themselves in new and white blankets and move without restriction around their camp. They have their meals regularly, have plenty of air and more exercise than their Spanish natures crave, but none too much for the good of their health. On the whole, they are the luckiest Spaniards of their times. - New York Sun.

The Gem That Is to Be Ours.

A French writer has described the island of Porto Rico as "La plus riante des Antilles." Should it fall to us to possess it our wide domain of varied climes would embrace no region so attractive or valuable as a winter resort or refuge for invalids as the mountain Fine Equipment, land of this smiling and luxuriant gem of the ocean. - Colonel W. Winthrop, U. S. A., in Outlook.

Those Lucky Prisoners.

If the starving Cubans could only have as good fare as the Spanish prisoners in the United States are getting, they would not think so much about the irony of fate. -Syracuse Post.

Dwelling in flats is making great headway in London, especially in the west end, but many persons are averse to being known as residents of such. Landlords advertise them as "mansions built in stories."

OUR PLAIN FIGHTERS

STEPHEN CRANE'S TRIBUTE TO THE REGULAR ARMY SOLDIERS.

Private Nolan, Who Knows How to Obey, Shoot and Go Ahead - Best Man on Two Feet In the World-Society Man Also a

Of course people all over the United States are dying to hear the names of the men who are conspicuous for bravery in Shafter's army, but as a matter of fact nobody with the army is particularly conspicuous for bravery. The bravery of an individual at Siboney is not a quality which causes him to be pointed out by his admiring fellows; he is, rather, submerged in the general mass. Now, cowardice-that would make a man conspicuous. He would then be pointed out often enough, but mere bravery—that is no distinction in the Fifth corps of the United States

The main fact that has developed in this Santiago campaign is that the soldier of the regular army is the best man standing on two feet on God's green earth. This fact is put forth with no pretense whatever of interesting the American public in it. The public doesn't seem to care very much for the regular soldier. The public wants to learn of the gallantry of Reginald Marmaduke Maurice Montmorenci Sturtevant and for goodness' sake how the poor old chappy endures that dreadful hard tack and bacon, whereas the name of the regular soldier is probably Michael Nolan and his life sized portrait was not in the papers in celebration of his enlistment.

Just plain Private Nolan, blast him -he is of no consequence. He will get his name in the paper-oh, yes, when he is "killed." Or when he is "wounded." Or when he is "missing." If some good Spaniard shoots him through, he will achieve a temporary notoriety, figuring in the lists for one brief moment in which he will appear to the casual reader mainly as part of a total, a unit in the interesting sum of men slain.

In fact, the disposition to leave out entirely all lists of killed and wounded regulars is quite a rational one, since nobody cares to read them anyhow, and their omission would allow room for oil paintings of various really important persons, limned as they were in the very act of being at the front, proud young men riding upon horses, the horses being still in Tampa and the proud young men being at Santiago, but still proud young men riding upon

The ungodly Nolan, the sweating, swearing, overloaded, hungry, thirsty, sleepless Nolan, tearing his breeches on the barb wire entanglements, wallowing | Santiago arranging to have the remains through the muddy fords, pursuing his sent north. A specially made casket way through the stiletto pointed thickets, climbing the fire crowned hill-Nolan gets shot-one Nolan of this regiment or that regiment, a private, great chums in time of peace with a man by the name of Hennessy, him that had a fight with Snyder. Nearest relative is a sister, chambermaid in a hotel in Omaha. Hennessy, old fool, is going around the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal looking glum, buried in taciturn silence, a silence that lasts two hours and eight minutes; touching tribute to Nolan. There is a half bred fox terrier in barracks at Reno. Who the deuce gets the dog now? Must by rights go to Hennessy. Brief argument during which Corporal Jenkins interpolates the thoughtful remark that they haven't had anything to eat that day. End of Nolan.

The three shining points about the American regular are his illimitable patience under anything which he may be called upon to endure, his superlative marksmanship and his ability in action to go ahead and win without any example or leading or jawing or trumpeting whatsoeyer. He knows his business, he

He goes into battle as if he had been fighting every day for 300 years. If there is heavy firing ahead, he does not even ask a question about it. He doesn't even ask whether the Americans are winning or losing. He agitates himself over no extraneous points. He attends exclusively to himself. In the Turk or the Cossack this is a combination of fatalism and wooden headedness. It need not be said that these qualities are lacking in the regular.

After the battle at leisure-if he gets any-the regular's talk is likely to be a complete essay on practical field operations. He will be full of views about | Comrade Conant. the management of such and such a brigade, the practice of this or that battery, and be admiring or scornful in regard to the operations on the right flank. He will be a tireless critic, bolstering his opinions with technical information procured heaven only knows where. In fact, he will alarm you. You may say, "This man gabbles too much to be a soldier."

Then suddenly the regular becomes impenetrable, enigmatic. It is a question of orders. When he hears the appointed voice raised in giving an order, he is a changed being. When an order comes, he has no more to say. He simply displays as fine a form of unquestioning obedience as there is to be seen anywhere. It is his sacred thing, his fetich, his religion. Nothing now can stop him but a bullet.

In speaking of Reginald Marmaduke it will be some time before he is able to Maurice Montmorenci Sturtevant and bis life sized portraits it must not be supposed that the unfortunate youth admires that sort of thing. He is a man and a soldier, although not so good either as man or soldier as Michael Nolan. But he is in this game honestly and sincerely. He is playing it gallantly, and if from time to time he is made to look ridiculous it is not his fault at

We are as a people a great collection of the most arrant kids about anything that concerns war, and if we can get a chance to perform absurdly we usually seize it. It will probably take us three more months to learn that the society reporter, invaluable as he may be in times of peace, has no function during the blood and smoke of battle. I know of one newspaper whose continual cabled instructions to its men in Cuba were composed of interrogations as to the doings and appearance of various unhappy society young men who were decently and quietly doing their duty along o' Nolan and the others. The correspondents of this paper, being already impregnated with soldierly feeling, finally arose and said they'd be blamed if they would stand it.

And shame, deep shame, on those who, because somebody once led a cotillon, can seem to forget Nolan-Private Nolan of the regulars-shot through. his half bred terrier being masterless at Reno and his sister being chambermaid in a hotel in Omaha; Nolan, no longer sweating, swearing, overloaded, hungry, thirsty, sleepless, but merely a corpse, attired in about 40 cents' worth of clothes. Here's three volleys and taps to one Nolan of this regiment or that regiment, and maybe some day, in a fairer, squarer land, he'll get his pioture in the paper too. - Stephen Crane in New York World.

Representative of France In Washington Might Be an Instrument For Negotiating Terms-Government Said to Not Expect a Carlist Uprising at Present. Danger of Republican Movement Considered Even Less Likely-Government Vigilant as to the Carlists.

LONDON, July 25 .- The Madrill correspondent of The Times says:

"Peace prospects have greatly improved during the last 48 hours. The diplomatic explorration of Duke Almodover de Rio, the foreign minister, has been more practical than was supposed, and it is now tolerably certain that the government's efforts are entering a new phase which may gradually lead to tan-

"The precise nature of the change is a secret, but there is little doubt that it tends to direct negotiation between Spain and the United States, there being no inclination to seek the mediation of any neutral power.

"The French embassy at Washington seems the most likely channel for opening negotiations, and the semi-official statement that America intends to retain Porto Rico is regarded here as a hint to Spain to hurry up.

"There is still much talk about Car list intrigues and preparations, but the government, though vigilant and ready to act energetically if necessary, seems to think that at present there is no serious danger of untoward developments. The danger of republican movements is still less."

CORRESPONDENTS EXPELLED.

Wrongdoing In Cuba.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- In his report

General Shafter Reported on Their

to the war department relative to conditions at Santiago, General Shafter has thrown some light upon the difficulties in which certain of the newspaper correspondents there have involved themselves. From his report it would appear that animated by an ambition to take a prominent part in the important events following each other in rapid succession at Santiago after the initiation of the negotiations for the surrender of the city, a few of the correspondents were guilty of grave breeches of military law, necessitating prompt corrective action by General Shafter.

Thus, for instance, one correspondent in his efforts to take part in the flagraising over city hall, resisted the military officers in the execution of their duty and even attempted a personal assault upon the commanding general. This made him subject to summary and severe punishment, even death, yet General Sharter, probably realizing that ignorance of military law was the explanation of the action, contented himself with expelling that correspondent from Cuba.

A more serious offense, from the fact that it might easily have ied to rioting and loss of life, was that of three other correspondents, who, it appears by General Shafter's report, by circulating inflammatory posters, stirred up the town. They were likewise deported. General Shafter had declared that these correspondents may be immediately replaced by others from the same newspaper who will observe the rules of prudence.
